STREET CAR ROLLS OVER IN NEWTON; 35 SHAKEN

Between 30 and 35 passengers were injured or shaken this afternoon when a Boston Elevated trolley of the newer type jumped the rails at Tremont and Park sts., Newton Corners, skidded across the opposite rails and toppled on its side.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene by Newton and Boston police and from Newton and St. Elizabeth's Hospitals. Newton firemen also were called and aided in removing the passengers from the overturned trolley car. A short time after the accident, Newton Hospital reported that three of the injured had been received and treated for lacerations. Others were under treatment, it was said, by doctors in the vicinity of Newton Corners.

Drive on MacArthur Boggled

Bataan Peninsula,
With Gen. MacArthur
Feb. 23 (Delayed) (AP)
U. S. OFFICIAL
BY CLARK LEE

The battle of Bataan appears to have entered a definite stalemate, with the Japanese abandoning at least temporarily their hitherto costly efforts to crack Gen. Douglas MacArthur's line across the peninsula.

There are at present no indications whether the Japanese are awaiting reinforcements, planning attacks against Bataan and the island fortress of Corregidor from new directions, or whether they are content to tighten their encirclement in an attempt to starve the American-Filipino defense forces into eventual capitulation when supplies and provisions are exhausted.

(The department's communique issued today in Washington said small groups of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces were uniformly successful in aggressive local actions as sharp encounters occurred all along the line in Bataan.)

In the past week infantry activity on the Bataan front has been desultory, while artillery duels between Japanese batteries on the south shore of Manila Bay and the guns of Corregidor and other fortified islands have been intensified. The Japanese have fired hundreds of shells against Corregidor.

MASTY DEPARTURE

In the Manila Bay sector of the Bataan front, which is dominated by American-Filipino artillery, the Japanese have abandoned medical and other supplies which the defenders either captured or destroyed. Hitherto there has been no explanation of these evidences of hasty departure, but the theory has been advanced that the Japanese may have withdrawn some troops from Bataan to prepare defense positions along the Lingayen Gulf and Eastern Luzon, fearing American forces will land behind them.

All fronts have been relatively quiet, with artillery action limited generally to counter-battery firing. Japanese aerial activity also has decreased, although the Japanese still control the air and periodically receive additional planes, especially 97 dive bombers which probably were brought by ship from Formosa and landed somewhere in northern Luzon.

GUERRILLA GROUPS BUSY

In various areas of Luzon, American-Filipino forces are carrying on guerrilla warfare, raiding Japanese-held towns and picking off Japanese in small groups.

It is generally believed that the Japanese high command is preparing for further assaults against Gen. MacArthur's Bataan positions, but may delay a major drive pending the arrival of reinforcements released from action in the Malaya and Dutch East Indies areas where their main strength is at present occupied.

Heavy casualties suffered by General Homma's 14th army have undoubtedly contributed to the halting of the Japanese drive. Ex-

ALLIED FLIERS DOWN 30 JAPS IN BURMA

Rangoon, Burma

Feb. 25 (AP)

American Volunteer Group fliers and RAF pilots struck one of their heaviest blows at Japanese air strength over Burma today, destroying 30 enemy planes and carrying out effective sweeps over enemy positions along the Sittang river front.

An army communique indicated that the British imperial forces, pushed back to the west bank of the Sittang river some 70 miles from Rangoon, had been given a breathing spell after facing intensive Japanese pressure and were making the most of this opportunity to reorganize their defenses.

MANDALAY, Burma, Feb. 25 (AP)—A new Japanese push into the Shan states of northeastern Burma was anticipated here today as British troops to the south fought a delaying action from "good positions" along the west bank of the Sittang River, last natural barrier before the Rangoon railway which connects with the Burma Road.

Rangoon, principal seaport of Burma and the capital, was semi-deserted following the completion of a compulsory evacuation of all but military elements.

A United States military mission supervised the hurried loading of hundreds of trucks with piled stores of lend-lease war supplies and rushed them off toward the Chinese frontier while the Burma Road remained open to traffic.

Defending the Burma frontier in the Shan states area are thousands of seasoned Chinese troops who marched a thousand miles over rough mountain roads and trails to the Thailand and Indo-China frontiers.

17 Go Mad After Ship Is Torpedoed

Baltimore

Feb. 25 (AP)

U. S. OFFICIAL NEWS

Six men, the only known survivors of the torpedoed Norwegian freighter Blink, whose sinking was announced by the Navy Department today, told of their 66-hour fight for life in a swamped lifeboat in rough, shark-infested seas.

The 2700-ton freighter was torpedoed without warning off the Atlantic coast with a probable loss of 24 lives.

The survivors believe the chief engineer, donkeyman and a fireman of the 22-year-old ship were killed when two torpedoes exploded in the engine room. They believe four others were lost on a life raft.

They watched 17 other crewmates in their crowded lifeboat go mad, then die of thirst and exposure. Their bodies were thrown or washed overboard.

The six were brought to Baltimore on an unidentified vessel last week and taken to the U. S. Marine Hospital. There were no Americans in the crew.

Five survivors are Norwegian—Briger Lund, 28; Odd Nunn, 25; Naker Thorbjornsen, 20; Harry Friis, 31, and Godtfried Gulkisen, 29. The sixth is British—George Johnson.

Lunde, veteran of another sinking last May, said a torpedo hit the No. 2 hold without exploding 50 seconds before the two torpedoes crashed into the engine room.

Within five minutes 23 men were in the starboard lifeboat—the port boat was smashed in the explosion. The Blink sank 15 minutes after they left.

PLANES SINK 3 MORE JAP TRANSPORTS

Bandoeng, Java

Feb. 25 (AP)

U. S. OFFICIAL NEWS

By WITT HANCOCK

Three large Japanese transports, part of a concentration possibly massing for the expected direct assault on Java, have been sunk by Allied bombing planes off Macassar, enemy-held port in southwest Celebes within 400 miles of Java's eastern tip, the Dutch East Indies high command reported today.

At the same time, Japanese planes concentrated their attacks on this fortified island's airdromes—the sixth day in succession that the Japanese have followed the familiar pattern of softening up Allied air defenses before launching a full-scale invasion attempt. (Tokyo asserted 68 Allied planes were shot down or destroyed.)

U. S. OFFICIAL NEWS

Russian troops were declared officially today to have crushed Germany's 16th field army, shattering three divisions and killing 12,000 men through encirclement operations in the Staraya Russa sector, 140 miles below Leningrad.

(German losses mounted to 26,000 with a report from Kharkov that in a battle on the southwest front 14,000 Nazis had been killed.)

A special communique said that northwestern front units commanded by Lieut.-Gen. Kurochkin set the trap Feb. 15 and "a few days ago the operations were concluded."

The 290th Infantry Division, Second Army Corps; the 13th Infantry Division, 10th Army Corps; and an S. S. (Elite Guard) Division were smashed, it said, and the field was littered with German dead and equipment abandoned by the survivors.

(The battle, of a scope rivaling activity in the bloody Smolensk zone 200 miles farther south, evidently represented a major stroke in Russian efforts to clear communication lines of the Lake Ilmen region in preparation for further thrusts at the rear of invasion units entrenched before Leningrad.)

ORDER OF DAY

The army correspondent of the Communist party newspaper Pravda reported that documents seized in this battle indicated an order of the day from Gen. von Brockdorf, commander of the Second German Army Corps—to which one of the smashed Nazi divisions belonged—acknowledging that the Russians "some time ago" had cut his communications.

The latest Red Army success was seen as giving the Russians a vitally important sector from which to launch new operations covering the entire northern zone.

In addition to Lake Ilmen to the north and a railway line running almost due west, the Staraya Russa area controls the junction of three highly useable rivers—the Pola, Polista and Lovat.

The important Nazi defense position at Velikie Luki lies on the Lovat, the longest of the three, some 110 miles south and slightly west of Staraya Russa.

Staraya Russa is a German-held mineral springs resort below Lake Ilmen on a railway that—like the crossbar of a huge "A"—links trunk lines from Leningrad to Warsaw and from Leningrad to Moscow.

Ship Survivor To Take Bride

"I'll be home soon, don't worry."

That message from John Walsh of Farragut rd., South Boston, wiper aboard the sunken oil tanker Cities Service Empire, brought cheer today to Miss Alice Levens of 176 Bowdoin st., Dorchester.

With her fears brushed aside by that dramatic message from Fort Pierce, Fla., she smilingly revealed she recently consented to marry Walsh in April.

Walsh is a graduate of South Boston High School, and for many years was a member of South Boston Yacht Club. Last August he joined the Merchant Marine and since then has plied the Atlantic coast aboard tankers.

On his leave last month, Alice and Walsh made their wedding plans.

Dependency Deferments To Be Cut

New and tighter draft regulations have been formulated by national selective service headquarters at Washington, it was learned today, with the result that the number of deferments by reason of dependency will be drastically reduced.

Local draft boards as a rule, under the new service regulations, will refuse to defer registrants who were married on or after Dec. 8, 1941.

In addition, if the status upon which a claim of dependency is based was acquired between Sept. 16, 1940, and Dec. 7, 1941, the claimant must prove that he did not acquire such status because induction appeared imminent.

The new regulations have been formulated, it was learned, because officials feel that many draft registrants have deliberately attempted to avoid induction by marrying or by acquiring dependents.

BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS!

The courageous lads battling under the sterling leadership of General DOUGLAS MACARTHUR on Bataan Peninsula WANT to BUY BONDS. They WANT BOMBERS because they know BOMBERS MEAN VICTORY.

That touching appeal by MacArthur's men to BUY BONDS FOR BOMBERS should stir us to IMMEDIATE activity. In the safety of our huge country we should be GLAD we can BUY BONDS . . . the Bataan defenders WANT to but can't.

Today, the Boston Postoffice Employees Credit Union announced their pledge to buy $50,000 in BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS.

That's the quota set for 1942 and already the group has purchased $30,000. John L. Lavery, president and general manager, stated the $20,000 balance "will be purchased just as soon as surplus funds permit."

"We in the government service realize that we should be the first in promotion and expansion of such a patriotic cause," Lavery wrote to the BUY A BOMBER editor (5 Winthrop sq., Boston).

"Each purchaser of a BOND is doing his own part in supporting the government and making it possible to procure the vital necessities, especially BOMBERS, for the speedy and successful prosecution of this war."

STRONGEST CREDIT

The Union last year bought $50,000 worth of BONDS because they are "supported by the STRONGEST credit in the world and FULL payment of principal and interest is GUARANTEED by the United States government."

Thus another responsible organization which must invest its stockholders' money very carefully joins the growing list of financial groups endorsing BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS.

In his letter President Lavery wrote:

"We wish to extend our sincere congratulations to the Boston Record-American, Sunday Advertiser for your zealous campaign in so forcibly presenting to your readers the attractiveness and safety of UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS AND STAMPS as an investment.

"We know you are awakening many of your readers to a new sense of RESPONSIBILITY to

DOG RACING, BOXING FACE BRITISH BAN

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sir

Stafford Cripps, Lord Privy Seal in the revamped British cabinet, told the House of Commons today the government would not permit a "business as usual or pleasure as usual" attitude toward the war from now on.

He made this statement as government leader in the House when he rose to defend the Churchill cabinet toward the close of a two-day debate on the conduct of the war.

He announced that a government decision would be given shortly on the problem of India.

On the home front, Sir Stafford said, steps will be taken to halt "dog racing and boxing displays" which he called "completely out of accord" with the "solid and serious intention of this country to achieve victory."

Cheered by the House of Commons, Leslie Horsburgh, former war secretary, declared today that he welcomed Prime Minister Churchill's revised government, but that "it must stand or fall by the manner in which it meets the needs of this war."

He and other members speaking in the second day of war debate in the House declared three big needs were:

1—That the army be given control over its own supporting aircraft, instead of the RAF.

2—That an immediate "generous" gesture be made to India, and that the British colonial policy be revised.

3—That the government take drastic steps to obtain a minimum of production and a minimum of civilian consumption.

JEALOUS BOY ADMITS HE SHOT GIRL DEAD AFTER KISSING HER AT SHOW

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—A 17-year-old former high school student was seized in suburban Berwyn today and confessed, Coroner A. L. Brodie announced, that he kissed pretty Dorothy Broz, his 16-year-old companion, and then shot her to death while they sat in the downtown Palace Theatre.

The youth, Clarence McDonald, a railroad employe, was seized on information supplied by the victim's friend, Miss Elaine Mastney, 17, a senior at the Morton High School. She is authorities that Dorothy said Clarence was inordinately jealous and had said:

"If I can't have you, nobody else will."

Some 12 hours after the shooting late yesterday's the theater balcony, where "Hilza-Poppin'" and

"Sealed Lips" were being shown, the youth made a statement to the coroner and Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis.

"I don't know—it just happened," he was quoted as saying.

"Was there any conversation before you shot her?" the boy was asked.

"No," he replied. "I was kissing her. We seen the picture and I kissed her and shot her—that's all."

Young McDonald said he had been going with Dorothy for about two years, that they had talked of marriage, but later had decided "to wait four years 'till she was a little older." He admitted, the officials said, that on a former occasion he had drawn a pistol on the girl while they were in an ice cream parlor; but that he was just "fooling."

TELLS OF QUARREL

Prior to making the statement, the youth told the coroner that he and his victim had quarreled about trivial things—baseball, football and school affairs.

The clue to McDonald's arrest was obtained shortly after the identification of Dorothy's body in the morgue, where it had lain

DOROTHY BROZ, 16, SHOT IN MOVIE
"If I Can't Have You, Nobody Else Will," Chicago Youth Is Quoted as Saying

CLARENCE McDONALD, 17, SEIZED

among the unknown dead for almost 11 hours after the shooting.

Identification was made by an uncle, who said Dorothy, also of Berwyn, was the daughter of a real estate man and that she had finished high school this month.

Police had obtained only a vague description of the youth who stepped across Dorothy's bleeding body, sprinted up an aisle and escaped in the dark and confusion of the theater.

SHOOTING IN FILM

Noisy with pistol shots and girl screams "Hilza-poppin'," had finished and a companion picture, "Sealed Lips," had started building its mystery plot.

In the nearly empty balcony, Dorothy was sitting with a young man. Suddenly she cried:

"Help, oh help me! He's got a gun!"

Those nearby heard her but associated her cry with the zany antics in the picture just ended. A scene in the crime feature, a fight in a prison mess hall, had the sound amplifiers roaring a perfect cover for the shot that followed by a few seconds.

"Oh, get that man! I'm shot, I'm shot!" Dorothy screamed, then collapsed in an aisle, a bullet beneath her heart.

The show went on and most of the audience that filled the main floor was unaware of the tragedy above.

PISTOL IN GARAGE

Young McDonald directed officials to a garage at his home in suburban Berwyn where the coroner said he had hidden the pistol with which the girl was killed.

Dorothy, he said, had felt the pistol in his pocket and had pleaded with him to give it to her, but he refused.

After the shooting young McDonald said he ran to the upper balcony, mixed with the crowd, went to the first floor and then walked out an alley door, later taking an elevated train home, where he burned all of the photographs of himself. Subsequently he said he and a companion went to a movie picture theater in suburban Cicero.

Miss Elaine Mastney, 17, a senior at the Norton High School, and friend of the victim, was named by the officials as the girl who gave them the information which led to young McDonald's apprehension.

Several days ago, Miss Mastney related, she saw McDonald point a pistol at Dorothy. Miss Mastney said Dorothy told me she was afraid of the youth, quoting him as saying:

"If I can't have you, nobody else will."

"We dragged anchors all night waiting to see if there were any men in the water," Lunde said. "When we found none, we tried to start the motor. It failed. It was full of water."

"Then we tried to raise the sail and the lifeboat capsized. Everybody went in the heavy sea. We lost our food, our water, our oars, our sail. One man was lost. The rest of us clung to the keel and righted the boat."

Two men clambered aboard to bail out, he said, but waves poured water in as fast as it could be bailed. The other seamen boarded the boat, sitting on the gunwales or cross seats in icy water up to their waists.

The lifeboat capsized twice more that day. The men repeatedly were washed overboard by huge waves.

"One by one the men went mad," the officer said. "They would talk of a comfortable bed, a cup of hot coffee. Capt. Sigurd Ulvestad talked of his family just before he died. . . . You can't expect a man to live in ice water. . . . We tried to catch a few drops of rain on the tongue."

"Several men tried to jump overboard but we kept them inside. . . . Sharks came close. They were waiting for someone. . . . We saw two steamers. We waved but they didn't see us. But that gave us hope. We knew ships were near. . . . The last man to die was the second mate. He died two hours before we were rescued."

Mother Denies Offering $300 To Divorce Son

Defending herself against charges that she interfered with her son's marital happiness, Mrs. Pauline Romanik of Poplar st., West End, today denied offering her former daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lillian Romanik, $300 to get a divorce.

"I didn't want Lillian to get a divorce from my son, Stanley," the mother-in-law testified in Suffolk Superior Court, where she is being sued by the young divorcee for $25,000 on charges of alienating the affections of Stanley Romanik.

The elder Mrs. Romanik denied all claims of "hating" her daughter-in-law or that she wanted her son to marry another.

Testimony was concluded and the jury was expected to receive the case late today.

Mrs. Romanik said she had no arguments with her daughter-in-law. She said she bought practically all the furniture the young couple owned and denied saying her son was "not the boy for Lillian."

Mrs. Helen La Corcia, daughter of Mrs. Romanik and a bride of but 10 days, quoted Lillian as saying:

"Gee, Helen, I'm so happy. I have no mother of my own, but now I have someone to take her place."

The 22-year-old bride testified she visited her brother's home on one occasion and heard an argument. She said she heard Lillian shout:

"Too bad I didn't cut your neck off."

She said her brother's arm had been badly cut and 16 stitches were necessary to close the wound. Stanley, Lillian's former husband, is now in the Army on duty in Alabama.

Mrs. Corcia closed the defense by testifying Lillian never complained about any interference by Mrs. Romanik.

Planes Sink 3 Jap Transports

stroyed on the ground yesterday in air raids on western Java, and claimed direct hits on a light cruiser and two 3000-ton ships in the harbor of Batavia, presumably Tandjong Priok.

Allied planes also raided an air-drome near Palembang, Japanese occupied city in southern Sumatra, and set three enemy planes afire, it was announced.

Japanese fliers continued reconnaissance operations and raids on defense airports, obviously in preparation for an attack which the Dutch expect them to launch as soon as possible against both ends of Java—from Sumatra and Bali—and probably also from the north.

A 16-plane formation which raided the harbor of Tandjong Priok, the harbor of Batavia, was broken up by anti-aircraft fire, a communique said, and losses were small.

"Nearly all the bombs dropped in the water," it said.

Japs Abandon Efforts To Crack Bataan Lines

at Japanese losses have not been estimated, but it is certain that thousands—perhaps as high as 30,000—have been killed or wounded. Some 2000 Japanese have been buried by the American-Filipino defenders alone. These were wiped out in attempted landings on the west coast, and in thrusts against the west central section of the front, where Japanese were annihilated by artillery fire. An entire Japanese infantry regiment is believed to have been killed in the west coast landing attempt. TERRIFIC TOLL OF JAPS The artillery took a terrific toll of the Japanese, who in the early days of the Bataan fighting used to march in close order down the roads commanded by American guns. Several times artillery of the defenders fired into concentrations of between 500 and 1000 Japanese, destroying nearly all of them. Their fanatical charges into American-Filipino machine-gun nests also cost the Japanese heavily.

In the current phase of limited patrol activities, the Japanese show little inclination to fight, usually withdrawing when they encounter American-Filipino patrols even inferior in numbers.

There are some indications that Japanese morale is not as high as formerly. This is admitted by many prisoners, who say they are sick of fighting. Recent prisoners stripped themselves of all means of identification and attempted to deny they were soldiers, claiming they were residents of Manila who were pressed into service as bus drivers by the Japanese Army. However, these men are unable to speak English or Filipino and their stories were quickly broken down.

On the other hand, the morale of Gen. MacArthur's men is excellent. They want to keep on fighting and are counting on the United States to give them the tools with which to do so.

The current stalemate is a further indication that Gen. MacArthur outmaneuvered the Japanese at every turn since they landed on Luzon. The main Japanese strategy on Luzon was to land hordes of youngish, untrained troops in the Lingayen area in the belief MacArthur would rush his main forces there. Then experienced, well-equipped Japanese troops were to close in from behind after landing at Atimonan and other points on eastern Luzon. The Japanese carried out their landings as scheduled, but when they tried to trap Gen. MacArthur, his forces were already moving into Bataan, where they have been holding since early January.

The next move is up to the United States.

Henry B. Ayres, 63-year-old member of the California State Guard, was stricken with a heart attack while driving a supply truck and died in a Hollywood hospital.

A dozen Japs were reported taken into custody at various points because of suspicious actions. Two men and a woman were arrested at Venice after flashing lights in their ocean-front home in such a way that it was believed they might be signaling to enemy planes.

A woman and a man were arrested for refusing to obey blackout restrictions.

All traffic except for ambulances and emergency vehicles was barred from the streets by police, deputy sheriffs, air raid wardens and soldiers.

Even after dawn came, when lights were no longer needed to drive, tech authorities refused to permit any traffic. Street cars and buses, as well as passenger cars, stood idle.

ALL TRAFFIC HALTED

Long lines of cars stood at every intersections, and it was not until all clear signal sounded that traffic began to move again.

Then came the worst traffic jam in Los Angeles history, with everyone starting to work at once. It was several hours before traffic was restored to normal.

According to the authorities, the unidentified aircraft first appeared over Redondo Beach, circled El Segundo and then crossed over the communities of Hermosa, Inglewood, Signal Hill, San Pedro, Long Beach and Sunset Beach.

Esso Dealers' air gauges have been checked for accuracy can and will help you to make your tires last! He knows that tires 30% under-inflated rob you of one-quarter of your possible mileage. One mile in four! And a recent check showed that nine out of every ten air standards are inaccurate!

So your Esso Dealer has had his air gauge tested and, if necessary, adjusted to give the exact pressure needed. Further, he has a special chart showing the car-maker's tire pressure recommendations for your car. And he'll be glad to give you a ready reference memo card, which shows proper pressures for your tires, both front and back.

Here are other services that lengthen tire mileage:

SWITCH WHEELS EVERY 3,000-5,000 MILES. If you have no spare, move front tires straight back and shift rear tires to opposite sides in front.

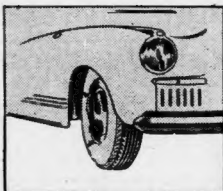

CHECK WHEEL ALIGNMENT PERIODICALLY. Watch for uneven or spotty wear. Tires out of line literally drag sideways at every revolution.

REPAIR SMALL CUTS. Even a tiny cut can work right through and ruin a tire. Have tires examined frequently and repaired.

KEEP WHEELS AND TIRES IN BALANCE. Whenever tire and tube are removed from rim, have wheel balanced again to avoid uneven wear.

BE SURE TIRES AND TUBES ARE PROPERLY MOUNTED. Use proper tools to prevent damaging tire bead or pinching the inner tube.

HOW YOU CAN HELP:

1. Refrain from high speed driving.
2. Accelerate and brake slowly.
3. Avoid scuffing against curbs.
4. Never drive on a flat.
5. Don't get oil or grease on tires.
6. Let your Esso Dealer check tire pressures at least once a week.

COLONIAL BEACON OIL COMPANY

SYNTHETIC RUBBER PLAN CALLED MESS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — Sen. Ralph Brewster (R.) of Maine, member of the Senate defense committee, today charged the government program for making synthetic rubber is in "an amazing mess."

As a result, he said, the time when the average motorist can be riding on synthetic rubber tires is far off and very uncertain.

Information received by the committee in secret session, Brewster declared, indicated that the full manufacturing program will not be in operation until 1944—a year later than previous promises.

The worst feature of the situation, to Brewster, is that the committee thus far has been unable to get a comprehensive picture of the government's plans or the facts in the rubber situation.

Secretary of Interior Jesse Jones recently testified before the Senate banking committee that plants making 400,000 tons of synthetic rubber annually would be in operation in 1943, and that the country could "get along" by conserving rubber.

POOL PATENTS

"Mr. Jones admits that the fig- of 400,000 tons a year is just a figure handed him and that no final determination has been made," said Brewster. "He said a month ago that plants could be in operation by July 1, 1943. No one now, including Mr. Jones, thinks that is possible. And our rubber won't last until 1944."

One striking result has been obtained, Brewster said. An agreement has been reached to pool patents for making synthetic rubber out of a product of oil without payment of inordinate royalties.

There still is the question of what sort of plants will be built and how much oil will be needed, Brewster said. And it has been suggested that triple-purpose plants be erected—to produce the base for synthetic rubber, a base for explosives and 100 octane gas.

ICKES TAKES ACTION

"Secretary of Interior Ickes wrote the President, and the President replied that Donald Nelson would handle the rubber situation," said Brewster.

"They will need oil to produce rubber. Mr. Ickes, the petroleum co-ordinator, doesn't know what demands will be made for oil. He wrote a protective letter two days ago saying that he should not be held responsible for any failure of the program."

The committee, Brewster said, has unsuccessfully sought to obtain accurate information as to why 80,000 tons of rubber were allotted to big companies last month, whether some big tire users have a three-year supply and whether a big mail order house—not the one Donald Nelson formerly was connected with—has $60,000,000 worth of tires on hand.

Meanwhile, word came that Massachusetts' quota of tires and tubes allotted for March would be

Your Life Insurance in Wartime

IN TIME OF WAR, the security underlying your life insurance takes on a new meaning. More than ever before, security for the family is paramount.

While supporting that security, your life insurance dollars, invested in Government Bonds, are helping to buy planes, tanks, ships, guns, and all the other implements of war. Thus your life insurance dollars are helping to safeguard American lives and liberties.

At the end of 1941, Metropolitan had a total of $1,214,931,424.25 invested in United States Government Bonds... about 22% of the Company's assets. In addition, $104,982,562.49 was invested in Canadian Government Bonds.

In both the United States and Canada, life insurance dollars are helping to finance your defense housing, transportation facilities, the production of power, and the industries which are pouring out the steel, chemicals, oil, food, munitions, and other materials needed for the war. Each month more and more of your life insurance dollars are flowing from the channels of peace into investments that serve war uses and war industries.

Because of public appreciation of life insurance, increased efficiency of our agents, and the better national income during 1941, lapses and surrenders were at the lowest rate recorded in the Company's history.

In fulfilling its obligations to policyholders during 1941, Metropolitan paid or credited to policyholders and their beneficiaries more than $567,900,000. Of this amount, more than $383,700,000 was paid or credited to living policyholders.

Metropolitan is a mutual company. Its assets are held for the benefit of its policyholders and their beneficiaries. In the meantime, these assets are, as always in the past, being used to help meet national needs.

24 Winter St., Boston

(AP)—Australian bombers, striking at an encroaching rim of Japanese lodgments in islands 400 to 500 miles north and northwest of Australia, attacked both Rabaul and Timor last night, a royal Australian air force communique announced today.

The attack on Timor followed the observation of large Japanese naval forces in the vicinity of Dili, capital of the northern, or Portuguese, portion of Timor, and the report that Japanese transports in Dili Harbor were burning.

Today's communique said the attacks carried out under good conditions of visibility and that good results were obtained on anti-aircraft sites and searchlight positions, but did not mention any ships being bombed.

Dili, about 450 miles northwest of severely bombed Darwin, had been captured by allied forces until Japan launched an invasion.

"The RAAF operations last night tended from Timor to New Britain," the communique said, added that all bombs fell in the target area.

Japanese bombers meanwhile were again hitting at Port Moresby, vital base on the south shore of New Guinea where one person was killed and five injured in a raid yesterday.

Opening a parliamentary debate on the war situation, H. V. Evatt, Australian attorney-general and minister of external affairs, told the House of Representatives that "direct thrusts against our homeland seem certain."

JAMES, ANNA AND ALLEN SHEA OF DORCHESTER
Return of Lost "Chubby" Would Make Them Happy

ONLY A MONGREL BUT JIMMY IS SICK AND WANTS HIM BACK

The only song left in the heart of an eight-year-old Dorchester invalid is that mournful refrain, "Oh, Where, Oh, Where Has My Little Dog Gone?"

James Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shea, Clarkson st., Dorchester, has been ill for over a month, and to this paper he wrote today:

"Can you please help me find my dog. His name is Chubby and he is a mongrel. He was with me all the time I was sick and now I miss him very much. I am James Shea, Mr. Editor, and please help me."

The dog, he wrote, was lost at the corner of Quincy and Stanley st., Dorchester. He is five months old, 1 1/2 for his age, and has a white stripe between his eyes.

James' sister Anna, 7, and his brother Allen, 5, have searched in vain for their sick brother's pal, and fear that if someone doesn't return Chubby, they will become sick children too.

Boy, 15, Held In Baby's Death

A 15-year-old Nantasket boy was ordered held on a charge of manslaughter today following an inquest in Hingham District Court into the circumstances surrounding the death of 4-year-old Arthur Rice.

Medical Examiner William E. Hines testified that his autopsy disclosed the child had died of hemorrhages caused by a severe beating.

The child had been staying at the home of Mrs. Ina Rice on Nantasket ave., Nantasket, and on Monday was left in the charge of Mrs. Rice's son. The woman discovered his body when she returned home.

The mother of the child, Mrs. Anna Pierce, has not yet been located by the police.

A few seconds delay in answering a telephone—multiplied thousands of times—ties up telephone apparatus and telephone people for hours and hours every day. Apparatus cannot be easily added because even the raw materials . . . copper, lead, zinc, aluminum, etc. . . are scarce. Present telephone equipment must be stretched as far as possible. You can help . . . just by answering your telephone promptly.

GIN RUMMY—HOW TO PLAY IT

By Josephine Culbertson

Josephine Culbertson, famed authority on gin rummy, the fascinating card game now sweeping the country, tells you today when to knock.

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

In Gin Rummy, you may knock as soon as you have a count of 10 or less. But this does not mean you should always knock when your count goes down to 10 points.

The knocker is often at a disadvantage. His opponent may "lay off" cards; the knocker may not. Suppose these are the hands:

YOU		OPPONENT
J-J-J	Spade	10-9-8
Diamond	4-4	K-K-K
Heart	4-3	Diamond	3-2
Diamond	A	Spade	A-3

Either player may knock, for you have 8; your opponent has 9. But whoever knocks, loses. If your opponent knocks, with 9, you will beat him with 8. If you knock, with 8, your opponent can lay off his three and deuce of diamonds, reducing his count to 6 and beating you.

With barely enough to knock—with a count of 7, 8, 9 to 10—you should knock only during the early stages of the game. Knocking is always a gamble, but in the early part of the game it is a good gamble. Your opponent may have been dealt a bunch of facecards which he has not been able to get rid of. By knocking you may win 40, 50 or even more points.

MAX TRAP OPPONENT

The early part of the game covers the first four or five draws by each player. During this period you knock with a count of 10 or with anything less.

The "middle game" begins when there are about 20 cards left in the stock—about two-thirds of the original stock. During the middle game, you should assume that your opponent has been able to develop his hand, achieving one or two matched sets and discarding all his high unmatched cards. During the middle game you should knock only if you have a count of 5 or 6 (or, of course, anything better.)

Of course, you might win by knocking with 9 or 10 during the middle game, but you could not expect to win much. Not enough, at any rate, to balance the risk of losing the hand. Every hand won means a 20-point bonus at the end of the game, and while these points do not count toward game they are well worth playing for.

ONE EXCEPTION

Furthermore, by lying low with a count of 7 or so during the middle game, you may trap your opponent into knocking. If he does, and especially if you are able to lay off one of your cards on his matched sets, you will beat him and get the 10-point bonus for beating the knocker.

There is one exception to this rule of waiting for a count of 5 or 6 during the middle game. If you have no chance at all of going gin, you should knock as soon as you can. There is always the danger that your opponent will go gin if you wait too long. Suppose you hold:

Diamond	K-Q-J-10
	8-8-8

Spade	5-2
Heart	A

No single card you might draw will give you gin. You would have to draw two ideal cards in a row, and the odds against your doing this may be approximately twenty to one. In many of the other cases your opponent would go gin against you. It is not worth the risk.

If your opponent does go gin, he will win 28 points, more or less, from you; if you knock and he beats you, he can hardly win more than 14 or 15 points, while by knocking you may win. It is better to knock.

But if your unmatched cards were something like Spade 4-2 and Heart 2, giving you the same count of 8 but putting you in a position in which any one of three cards (Spade 3, Diamond 2 or Club 2) would permit you to go gin, you should not knock.

DON'T SURRENDER

Now you have a chance to win the hand by a big score, and you should not surrender this for the doubtful chance that you will win if you knock.

The closing stages of the game begin when there are only about 10 cards left in the stock. If no one knocks during the next four draws, the game will end in a draw.

By this stage of the game both players have usually developed their hands to a point at which a single lucky draw will give them a gin hand.

During the closing stages you should usually play for gin. The only exceptions occur when you can knock with a count of 1 or, at worst, 2; or when you are sure your opponent cannot lay off cards on any of your matched sets.

Not Even Tires On Street Cleaner's Barrel Now Safe

Nobody's tires are safe these days—not even the tires on the street sweepers barrel carrier which he pushes around the street sweeper's barrel carrier shovel.

Joseph Smith, of Everett ave., Somerville, today told police that someone stole the wheels and tires from his barrel carrier which he kept in the rear of his home.

This brings in the question of "live cards" and "dead cards," which will be discussed later in this series.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Lieut. (JG) Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., son of the President, has been ordered to remain ashore for a month to keep contact with physicians before rejoining the Atlantic fleet.

Capt. G. E. Robertson, commanding officer of the Brooklyn Naval Hospital where young Roosevelt underwent an appendectomy Feb. 10, said he was in "fine condition" and would be released soon. He issued the shore order to provide for a routine checkup of the President's son after a period of recuperation.

By JOE MCKENNEY LESSON TWO

How to Obtain Good Posture

Good posture lends grace, poise, social value and personal attractiveness to one's bearing, and it is important to everyone at all times. It is an asset not only from a health standpoint, but also in the business and professional world.

In any contest it is of great importance to gain an advantage over one's opponent. It is also true with the muscles of the human body. When the body carriage is correct there is an equalized balance between all muscles, but when one assumes a faulty posture certain muscles are used in excess and others are used insufficiently.

Whenever one muscle gains an advantage over another, one increases in strength while the other becomes much weaker. The increase in strength is at the expense of the opposing muscle. Corrective exercises are then necessary to gain a correct body carriage and an equalized balance between the muscles.

To obtain a good posture one must learn the correct standing position which is as follows:

(A) Feet parallel—feet slightly apart with toes pointing straight forward.

(B) Weight forward—forward and on outside of feet.

(C) Waist flat—muscle of waist line contracted.

(D) Chest up—chest up and forward.

(E) Chin in—chin pressed in to straighten back of neck.

(F) Head high—head up, straight from shoulders.

KEEP HEAD HIGH

When walking in this correct position the arms should swing easily and naturally at the sides and the weight should be carried well forward.

It is not only important to learn to stand and walk correctly, but also to learn the correct sitting positions.

While sitting the head should be kept high, chin in, waist flat, hips, knees and ankles at right angles, the feet flat, with toes pointing forward, and the lower back touching the back support.

When writing, drawing, etc., the above position should be assumed and bend forward from hip joint only.

To assume a relaxed or rest position cross the feet at the ankles, resting feet on floor with outer border in contact with the floor and the toes pointing forward.

A good posture not only makes for self-respect, but commands the respect of others.

(In the next lesson a group of simple exercises, which can be done by young or old, will be explained. They are the secret to obtaining and of keeping a good posture.)

3 Women Wed 24 to 36 Years Granted Divorces

A trio of women—in the wedded state for 36, 34 and 24 years, respectively—a pretty young brunette and a man who testified his wife deserted him, obtained divorces from Judge Arthur E. Beane in Middlesex Probate Court today.

Oldest veteran of the marital wars, Mrs. Gertrude Z. Sarrar of Malden, who took the vow on Oct. 1906, charged her husband with desertion, and said that he, Harry J. Sarrar, left her six years ago, saying he had waited for the youngest daughter to be married, and was now tired of that state himself.

The Sarrars have another daughter, and she is also married.

Married in Oct., 1908, Mrs. Hattie Durant, of Tyler st., Lowell, brought her daughter, Dorothy, 22, to the stand, to corroborate her story that Edmond Durant was cruel and abusive to her.

HOPED SHED STAY THERE

Mrs. Durant testified that during her 34 years of married life she was compelled to move 15 to 20 times, because her husband wouldn't pay the rent, and that he expected her to run the household on $1 a week.

She testified also that he beat her, and her daughter declared that this was true.

Mrs. Marion E. Stucke, of Maple st., Belmont, who was married in April, 1918, said that John H. Stucke announced in Feb., 1933, that he was tired of married life and wanted to live alone.

She said she thought he might be troubled with business worries, so she went to Florida to give him a rest, but then she received a letter from him saying he hoped she'd stay there.

KNOCKED HER DOWN

Mrs. Olive F. Ballantine, of Aldine st., Watertown, who married David W. Ballantine in July, 1909, testified that he worked in a night club, drank and went out with other women. She charged cruelly and said that he knocked her down when she asked him to mend his ways.

Robert S. Bradford, of Pearl st., Natick, said his wife, Edith, in May, 1933, packed up and left with their child, saying she couldn't stand to live in the same house with his father. But she wouldn't live in a series of apartments he engaged for the two of them, either, he said.

They were married in September, 1937.

CLOSE ENOUGH — For 30 minutes Franchot Tone and lovely Joan Bennett (above) sat in a fighter plane cockpit while a studio firearms expert shot at them with a machine gun. Expert assured them he wouldn't take a chance with real bullets, but uses steel ballbearings, instead.

4TH HELD IN BANK CASE

Characterized by Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward D. Hassan as "a front man" in obtaining signatures to mortgages, Atty. Wilfred R. Gravel, 49, of Claremont st., Worcester, today became the fourth man to be arraigned in connection with alleged juggling of funds of the People's National Bank of Southbridge.

YOUTHS PLEAD INNOCENT IN KILLING OF 3

BROCKTON, Feb. 25.—Manacled and flanked by armed guards, two youths who were arrested during a riot at the State Farm in Bridge water on New Year's Day, were arraigned today in superior court here on indictment charging them with the murder of three prison guards.

The accused, Donald Millard, 19, of Nashua, N. H., and Joseph Sheppard, 24, of Worcester, had recovered from the effects of their encounter with State Police which kept them in the prison hospital for weeks. Both pleaded not guilty to the murder charges and were remanded without bail to Plymouth jail.

Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing told the court he would request a special May session.

Millard's mother and sister were in the court house but did not enter the courtroom. Sheppard was represented by Atty. Edward A. Ryan of Worcester. Ryan may be appointed to represent Millard at the trial.

The youths were charged with the murders of George Landry, 64, of Whitman; Franklin L. Weston, 53, of Bridgewater, and Howard V. Murphy, 45, of Taunton.

As defective delinquents the youths are now serving virtual life terms. Dist. Atty. Dewing's insistence in trying them for murder will be the first attempt to determine whether men already adjudged mentally defective can be held legally responsible for crimes committed later.

'JOHNNY EAGER' HELD OVER FOR SECOND WEEK ON LOEW'S TWIN SCREENS

Taylor, Lana Turner Big Hit

Robert Taylor's current role of a complete heel and Lana Turner's as a suggestible sociological student would seem to be just what the public ordered, for their Metro co-starrer, "Johnny Eager," is reaping a rich harvest at Loew's twin theaters.

And so it is being held over for a second week at the State and Orpheum.

"Johnny Eager" gives handsome Bob the opportunity to erase those pretty-boy ideas you may have had about him heretofore.

In his career as a ruthless killer he knows no code except the law of self-preservation.

It may be different for you to imagine the luscious Lana as an earnest student of sociology bent on finding out what makes the other half tick and trigger-finger their way to power. She's not a bad girl, nor a good girl, either, but you'll find her as easy on the eyes as did Johnny.

Mark you Van Heflin, who plays a lush in the picture, and mark him well. Despite the glitter of the T 'n' T teaming, it is really Heflin who is the star of "Johnny Eager."

ROBERT TAYLOR AND LANA TURNER
'Johnny Eager'

Edward Arnold as Lana's stern

father is excellent.

Also being held over is "Hay Foot." Producer Hal Roach's sequel to "Tanks a Million,"

'Sins of Bali' and 'She-Devil Island' on Fine Arts Screen

"Sins of Bali" and "She-Devil Island," the one with its native locale and the other set in Mexico, continue to successfully provide "escape" entertainment for Fine Arts patrons.

Walter Winchell orchidized "Sins of Bali" with the tribute, "a brassy-surely thing of beauty."

Made in Bali with a native cast and a native legend for its story, "Sins of Bali" is a real, not a synthetic, version of life on this coral strand in the days before war clouds shadowed its carefree shores.

Balinese maidens, garbed in colorful sarongs and bedecked with hibiscus petals, perform the "france dance" in one of the film's most arresting sequences. Other heretofore unfiled native rituals are presented.

"She-Devil Island," with its island of virgins, where warrior women see men for the first time, is also being held over.

Joe E. Brown At Trans-Lux

Joe E. Brown returns to the screen after a long absence in "Shut My Big Mouth," which shares honors with "Man From Headquarters" on the new Trans-Lux bill, opening today.

As a flower-loving tenderfoot inadvertently appointed marshal of the appropriately named frontier town of Big Bluff, Joe E. Brown, in "Shut My Big Mouth," discovers that flowers . . . in wreaths . . . are one thing there's plenty of.

Part Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

MORE FORTUNATE than most couples in these unpredictable days, Jane Potter Monroe of Commonwealth ave., and her bridegroom-to-be, Robert Wilson Goellet, Jr., of New York, are able to look far enough ahead into the future to plan an extended honeymoon... Destination of the trip is as yet a deep, dark secret, but sounds like something super, according to the description of a family friend...

The couple's bridal plans, just announced today, will be carried out with utmost simplicity due to the restraint of the Lenten season... The ceremony will be performed at 4 o'clock Saturday, March 7, in the picturesque Chapel of the Church of the Advent, followed by a small reception at the Ritz Carlton...

Due to the simplicity of the wedding only families and a few intimate friends will be on hand to bestow their best wishes on the couple...

The prospective bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Potter Monroe of Commonwealth ave. and a graduate of National Park Junior College...

Mr. Goellet, son of R. W. Goellet of New York and the Duchess of Villa Rosa, Florence, Italy, was educated at Avon Old Farms School and Leicester Junior College...

SHINING EXAMPLE of feminine ingenuity and adaptability is Mrs. Samuel Vaughan, Jr., (Joan Revell)... Though she could revel in the comparative luxury of her father-in-law's home at Prides Crossing, Joan has been keeping house for her young husband in a one-room apartment not far from the Army camp where he is on active duty...

With feminine efficiency uncommon to a girl born with a silver spoon in her mouth, Joan has transformed their combined living room, bedroom, dinette and kitchenette into a cosy inviting haven for Sam's off duty hours, and has taught herself to cook so she can whip up his favorite dishes...

SMALL ENGRAVED invitations have been sent to many of their bride-friend friends by Mrs. Edgar Pierce and Miss Isabel Henshaw who will be joint hostesses at cocktails and luncheon tomorrow at the Algonquin Club... The party precedes the weekly duplicate bridge tournament at the club...

MINDFUL of a tire shortage next summer and the possibility that antique-hunting along the highways and byways of New England will be a forgotten pastime for the duration, many collectors of fine old treasures are looking forward to the New England Antique Exposition to be held at the Copley-Plaza, March 2-5...

Bundles for America and Bundles for Britain will benefit jointly from proceeds of the exhibit, an important and interesting feature of which will be the showing of exact replicas of all the Crown Jewels of English monarchs...

Many a war bride, with a new home to furnish, will visit the Antique Exposition in the hopes of finding just the right heirlooms to provide a setting for the art of gracious living in her new surroundings...

Honorary committee sponsoring the benefit includes a small group of Boston's most distinguished citizens who are uniting in their efforts to preserve and maintain the invaluable antiques and historic sites which are a precious New England heritage... The list includes Mrs. Philip Gardner, Mrs. George Colket Coker, Mrs. Horatio Lamb, Mrs. John S. Ames, Dr. Lincoln Davis, Dr. John W. Bartol, Mr. William Sumner Appleton, Mrs. John S. Ames, Mr. Chauncey C. Nash, Mrs. Edwin S. Webster, Mr. Laurence B. Fletcher, Mrs. John Goodwin Gooding...

POST DEB Mary Whitney of Lincoln examines heirloom antique bric-a-brac which will be found at the N. E. Antiques Exposition for the benefit of war charities — Bundles for America and Bundles for Britain — at the Copley-Plaza, March 2 to 5.

Vincent Club Revue

'Tonight at Nine' Will Be Presented March 10

THE ACTRESSES will take the bows when it comes time for curtain calls in the forthcoming Vincent Club revue "Tonight at Nine"... but there's also a large group of behind-the-scenes workers who deserve a big hand for their faithful and diligent work of producing such an elaborate show.

Especially deserving are Julia Barbour, show chairman, and her right hand men—Mrs. Henry McBurney Parker, Mrs. James Parker, 2d, Mrs. George Bemis, Dorothy Rackemann, Mrs. W. Arthur Dupes, Jr., and Jane Megrew—who have been working like beavers during the long weeks of rehearsals... Yesterday they inaugurated one of the largest tasks of the whole production—the sale of tickets.

Julia stresses the fact that the Vincent is a democratic organization and wishes the public to enjoy the show along with members... so if you want to see the cutest of the season's deb dancing and singing in a tenebrous hit show, hustle up and reserve your tickets at the Hotel Somerset.

The curtain rises on the first performance of "Tonight at Nine" two weeks from tonight at John Hancock Hall... As in former years the audience will sit cabaret style at small gayly colored tables.

The long list of patronesses for the production reads like the pages of the Social Register and includes Mrs. John W. Adie, Mrs. William T. Aldrich, Mrs. William P. Allis, Mrs. Robert Amory, Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Mrs. Thomas A. Barbour, Mrs. Edward B. Bayley, Mrs. William deFord Beal, Mrs. Robert H. Binney, Mrs. Henry Bliss, Mrs. Ralph Bradley, Mrs. William A. Burnham, Jr., Mrs. F. Wadsworth Busk, Mrs. Ralph Bradley, Mrs. Harold L. Chailfoux, Mrs. F. A. Clark, Mrs. Paul F. Clark, Mrs. Edward C. Cunningham, Jr., Mrs. Thomas N. Dabney, Mrs. George H. Davenport, Mrs. Harry E. Draper, Mrs. Nathaniel W. Faxon, Mrs. S. Prescott Fay, Mrs. Hart Fessenden, Mrs. Arthur Felder, Miss Dorothy Forbes, Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham, Anne Delant Grant, Mrs. Henry White, Mrs. J. Burke Wilkinson, Mrs. Henry G. Halladay, Mrs. Huntington Hardwick, Mrs. Augustus P. Loring, Jr., Mrs. Arthur T. Lyman, Mrs. Peter Hunter Thompson, Jr., and Harriet Watson.

Hub Folk Join Florida Sports

The arrival of the world champion New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla., for spring training was the signal for a busy whirl of national sports events to get under way at this sunshine resort. The next few weeks will provide such exciting entertainment for resorters as a championship rifle tournament, a golf tournament and a 250-mile yacht race in which a dozen of the fastest sailing craft in the U. S. A. is entered.

Recent arrivals at the fashionable Vinoy Park Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Conrad of Brookline, Mrs. Alice Shirley of Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Howes of Newton Center, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Read and Mr. and Mrs. John White of Swampscott, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Sylvester of Newton Highlands and Mr. and Mrs. Swa Hartwell of Newton.

The Masked Jury THE BABY-HATER

—SHOULD HE MARRY?

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: A year ago I met a man with whom I fell in love. He is 36 and I am 27 and we get along splendidly except for one thing.

A few times we have gone to my married sister's for Sunday dinner. My sister has three lovely children but every time they get near my friend he shrinks away as if he can't stand the sight of them.

Last Sunday, when we left my sister's home, I asked him why he acted that way, and he told me that "kids get on his nerves." I asked him if he disliked children and he said he despised them and that he would rather have a couple animals around his house any day.

After I left him I cried all night. He is so wonderful in every other way I could hardly believe he could have said such a thing or felt that way. I love children and I had hoped to have several when I got married. Now the bottom seems to have fallen out of my world. We were going to get married this spring but now I don't know whether I should marry him or not.

Do you think a girl should marry a man who says he despises children?—THELMA.

HOW THE JURY VOTED

Women: Yes, four; No, two Men: Yes, six; No, none

HOUSEWIFE: Yes. Lots of bachelors say things like that but after they have a son of their own they are the proudest men on earth.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR: Yes. He'll change after he's been married a little while.

COLLEGE STUDENT (Man): Yes. Maybe those nephews of hers aren't the cuties she thinks they are. They probably kick him in the shins when nobody's looking.

"PLASTERER": Yes. I've got seven kids. The first one almost scared me to death. Now I'd like to have 17.

WAITRESS: No. A man like that wouldn't make a good father or husband. I would be suspicious of him.

SECRETARY: Yes. Maybe he's met the wrong kind of children. She shouldn't let that worry her.

CAR WASHER: What's wrong with having children? They help people in the income tax.

BANK CLERK: Yes. I used to feel the same way until I had one and then everything changed for me.

HOUSEWIFE: Yes. Men seldom ever mean a thing like that. It is merely an attitude they adopt, for some reason.

LAUNDRY WORKER (woman): No. He would probably want to beat them if he had any.

BUSINESS EXECUTIVE: Yes. Those boys are always the ones who go around five years later showing everybody a snapshot of Junior with his new tooth.

COAL DEALER: Yes. The stork sits up all night laughing at fellows like that.

Bad Coughs Yield Quickly To This Home Mixture

Surprisingly Quick Relief. No Cooking. Saves Money.

Here's a medicine for coughs due to colds that you mix in your own kitchen. It's so easy to prepare that a child could do it, but it's so effective that, once tried, you'll never again be without it in your home.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—no trouble at all.

Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, put it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of very wonderful cough syrup. It's thrifty, too—about four times as much for your money. And children take it willingly, because it tastes so good.

This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that's surprising. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Ease the soreness, and lets you rest at night.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable agent for soothing the throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

OUR DAILY CITATION: To our courageous airmen who scored America's greatest triumph in the Battle of the Pacific by blasting a Japanese invasion fleet off the strategic island of Bali. Said Captain L. H. Gelusha of Little Rock, Ark.: "Each pilot picked a ship—and then we let them have it." That is the way the United States is going to avenge the treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor and win this war.

BACKSEAT DRIVING!

NEVER was there a greater libel uttered against the American people than the repeated assertion by the backseat drivers in Washington that the people in this great crisis are "complacent" and "smug."

As a matter of fact, the people of the United States today are very much awake—were never more awake. The citizens of the U. S. A. today are paying enormous and heart-breaking taxes without a murmur.

They are—also without a murmur—seeing their necessities and luxuries being curtailed daily.

They are responding by the million without a murmur—gladly!—to die on sea, on land or in the air for their flag.

The people of America are at work night and day turning out war materials and are engaged, voluntarily, in thousands of war-time duties from buying Defense Bonds and acting as air-raid wardens to knitting scarves and getting up packages for the boys and men who are "signed up."

But what are the "REPRESENTATIVES"—the backseat drivers—of our brave, grim, silent, working masses doing in Washington?

They are BOONDOGGING.
They are SNIFFING AROUND PORK BARRELS.
They are confecting PHONEY price-control bills.
They are wasting their working hours debating over fan dancers and motion-picture actors.
They play politics.
They "complacently" and "smugly" vote pensions for themselves.

They "complacently" and "smugly" watch the parade into key positions of Reds, Pinks and other varieties of Vodskies.

They are told by Chairman Dies of the Committee Investigating Un-American Activities just where these Reds are nested, but THEY DO NOTHING ABOUT IT (Attention, Attorney General Biddle).

They waste the billions of the hard-earned incomes of the people in duplicating, overlapping and bureaucratic Federal activities, "field" activities and no activities at all—just "pie-counters."

And, meanwhile, the billions flow—and Pearl Harbor is wrecked and the mighty Normandie lies on her side in the Hudson River and the Midway Island is left to the heroic defense of a handful of Marines.

No—it is not the American people who are "complacent," "smug" and who are "laying down."

It is their PAID DEFENDERS in Washington.

The American people PAY and DIE while our lords and gentlemen in Washington backseat drive, bungle, fumble and balk.

There's an election coming on next fall.

Maybe the American people will then put their working fist full in the face of these lords and gentlemen—and reds.

On The Side

*My days of waiting—endless time, Like a clock's tick-tock beating chime.
Why does it not hurry by?
It seems eternity, My Dear,
To wait alone wanting you near.
A world of joy when will that be;
The day when you return to me.*
—DARLENE SMITH.

THE ABOVE was written by Mrs. Smith, a Navy wife, and sent to her husband in a letter last October. Mrs. Smith will never experience the "world of joy" she looked forward to on her husband's return. He was killed at Pearl Harbor. . . . While remembering Pearl Harbor, don't forget Staff Sgt. Joseph L. Lockard. On the morning of Dec. 7 the sergeant, then a private, was on duty at the detector and reported that a large force of planes was approaching Pearl Harbor. This warning was disregarded by the sergeant's superior. It was 7:02 a. m. when Sgt. Lockard made his report, and at 7:55 a. m. the Japs swarmed over Pearl Harbor. Yes, sir, incredible as it seems, Pearl Harbor was given 53 minutes warning of the attack, ample enough to save the day, but it went unheeded.

PLEASE NOTE: Noted a very unusual news photo today. Was a picture of a woman who had just received her divorce decree and she wasn't smiling. She was crying. She was a blonde, too. Divorce is a sad affair any way you look at it. But most women smile when they get their decree. . . . Another song is to be dedicated to the Wake Island Marines. How about doing something really worth while for those gallant fellows? How about suggesting to Washington, D. C., that the Japanese diplomats now in the United States be given their freedom in exchange for that of the Wake Island Marines now held as prisoners in Japan? Or let the Japanese prisoners taken in action be exchanged for the Marines. I like this idea and may keep on repeating it.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Was Kipling right when referring to bachelors he said: "He travels fastest who travels alone?" Anyway, you can add the following to the list of successful and celebrated bachelors: Beethoven, Chopin, Schubert, Brahms, Tschalkowski, Spinoza, Schopenhauer, Walt Whitman, Keats, Anatole France, Handel, Abe Lyman, Voltaire and Heine. . . . Which auto tire does the most work and is most likely to wear out first? It is the tire on the right rear wheel which does 33 per cent of the work. Left rear does 29 per cent, front right 19 per cent, front left 14 per cent. . . . "As for those widows who are looking for husbands," writes a Californian, "tell them to stop looking around night clubs, cocktail bars and at parties. Tell these women to go to church. I met my second husband's mother in church. She introduced me to her boy. He is 100 per cent marvelous as a husband."

PASSING BY: Mike Todd, Broadway's second best showman. Plans to produce a burlesque show starring the well-known writer, Gypsy Rose Lee, and charge $4.40 per seat. I have seen a lot of burlesque shows but only one worth $4.40 admission. That was "Wine, Women and Song," with Alexander Carr, Bonita and Lew Hearn. . . . Dian Manners, Third vice-president of the Pacific Coast Blondes Protective Ass'n and also a member of the Ziegfeld Girls Club. Miss Manners sings and composes. She wrote that ditty, "I Hope I Don't Misunderstand You." Carl F. Zeidler, America's most colorful mayor; tops the city government of Milwaukee. Mr. Zeidler, 32 years old, is to resign as mayor.

MAYOR ZEIDLER WITH FOND PARENTS
He'll Leave Milwaukee to Fight for Uncle Sam

to join the Navy. This recalls that John Purroy Mitchell, once mayor of New York, enlisted in 1918 and was in the Air Force when killed in a plane accident in Louisiana.

TEN BEST: "The 10 best vaudeville acts," claims John Russell, "were 1—Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle; 2—The Caninos; 3—Mosconi Brothers; 4—Bert Williams; 5—Fanny Brice; 6—Chic Sale; 7—Pat Rooney and Marion Bent; 8—The Four Mortons; 9—The Dooleys-Ray, Gordon & John; 10—Lyon & Yosco." Not a bad list; but John, old boy, you have left out the Four Cohans, the Marx Brothers, Van and Schenck, T. Roy Barnes and many other acts as good or better than those named.

ASIDES: The name of the last film John Dillinger saw was not "Manhattan Serenade" but "Manhattan Melodrama," featuring Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy. . . . Philadelphia is supposed to be a slow town. But when a recent test air raid blackout was announced in the Quaker City, a night club advertised "Reserve a Booth for the Black-out. Fifteen Minutes of Uninterrupted Romance" . . . The first magazine story Sally Benson wrote she sold. And in all her career has never had a rejection slip. Miss Benson wrote the "Junior Miss" stories.

SIDEGLITS: Above all, the Japs want the Dutch East Indies. Just to consider one of the many natural resources of this territory; it could supply the entire world with rubber. . . . So Ina Claire overpaid her income tax $98,205, which the government refunded. Boy, what an income Ina must have had in 1940. Ina's best play was "Polly with a Past." Her first hit was the title role of the musical show "The Quaker Girl."

Broadway's Voice

KAREN MORLEY WEARS PIG-TAILS

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—Manhattan Glitter: Ginger with Jean Gabin—the new Rogers and Heart... Karen Morley at 21 in the hair-do that all the Hollywood gals have adopted—pig-tails!... Merle Oberon and Luise Rainer exchanging dancing partners at Fefe's Monte Carlo. Nice exchanging, if you can get it... J-J-Joe F-F-Frisco s-s-stopping to talk to R-R-Rosemary L-L-Lane at the H-H-Hurricane... Nancy Carroll giving an Army lad a lock of her hair for luck... Jimmy Durante on Broadway—where he belongs... John Carandine signing his name on the moppets' autograph tomes... Lieut. Jimmy Stewart! Aaahhh!

THE MIDNIGHT SCENE: It looked like a shot from the picture at the Music Hall in The Stork Club the other night when Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn dropped in. Beautiful Katie was hungry, too; she sat there in her simple skirt and striped blouse and consumed crab meat, green pea soup, a trayful of miniature steak sandwiches, ice cream and milk. Sally O'Neill, the little screen vixen who was such a favorite in the silent days, kept looking over as if the Tracy-Hepburn table were a magnet, and as if she were a school girl fan... Ray Bolger is back in town after a lot of war work in Washington... Walter Huston is staying until his sister recovers from a serious illness.

SLAPSY MAXIE ROSEN-BLOOM told two tittering young women at Leon and Eddie's: "I'm not an imbecile!"... Frank Fay climaxed a session at the Club Room—on the subject of his adventures with Bert Wheeler—by telephoning Wheeler on the coast for a sentimental 20 minutes... Manager Lou Levy insured the Andrews Sisters for $300,000... Rosario and Antonio, the dancers in "Sons O'Fun," were made honorary gypsies... Mischa Auer sipped his coffee out of an old-fashioned mustache cup at the Encore... Maxine Baerat wore gloves trimmed in phosphorescent strips that light up weirdly in the dark.

A STONE'S THROW FROM BROADWAY: Debbie's who formerly led a fairly useless life sitting around Armando's and Tony's Trouville and the Stork Club of an afternoon killing the boredom with cokes and gossip are no longer bored—or useless. They've been combining work and play by offering themselves as dates for soldiers—our own and the RCAF and RAAF boys—on short furloughs in New York prior to departure for the combat zones... You see them in the night clubs every night dancing and sipping their tall drinks with the boys in brown and blue and blue gray, and they look gayer and less blasé than debbs have looked in many a season... Of course, they're out with a different brand of male in many cases. Boys the like of which they would never have met in peace time. Because now they don't pick their dates because of civilian background or family connections or social position. All they ask of a lad is that he wear a uniform.

HISTORY: Georgie Price, rehearsing for his Thursday opening at La Martinique, was asked by Proprietor Dario to inject something patriotic into his act—something that would go well with the stamp-selling finale. "Those imitations you do of Richman and Cantor and Jessel are okay," Dario told him, "but get something else that's more in keeping with the times." How about doing a George M. Cohan? Price inquired. "Fine!" said Dario. "But can you do it?" "I don't know why not," shrugged Price. "I did it all during the last war!"

THE OWL PATROL: Jimmy Walker wore two ties, for a gag, the other evening—a clip-on bow tie and his own four-in-hand on top of it... Saunter over to the Rockefeller Plaza at midnight under the new moon—the stores are closed, the rink is cleared, the skaters are gone, but half a dozen spectators still lean against the parapet looking down at the pale ice from force of habit... Talulah Bankhead says she went into the hospital under her own name "to avoid publicity"... Rose Perfect (she was really born with that name) will try for a new career at Bill's Gay Nineties. She's a veteran of the early "Scandals" shows... Beryl Baker, a new show girl in town—she's at the Versailles—is wearing an engagement sparkler from Composer Bobby Warren.

KATHARINE HEPBURN

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

JACK PHILLIPS' BOOK of short humorous fables entitled "The Bomb That Wouldn't Go Off" has excited the eastern story division of 20th Century-Fox... If West Coast headquarters shares the enthusiasm, the Phillips stuff will be bought, and turned over to the studio's cartoonists for Disney-izing ("animation")... Marquee sign: "He Died With His Boots On!" "One Foot in Heaven"... Peggy Hopkins Joyce is being escorted around the Manhattan late spots by a gentleman she introduces as "my uncle"... Those who remembered the "stage" aunt who acted as Peggy's companion-secretary in the days of her third, fourth and fifth marriages, were skeptical about the "uncle"... But he's the McCoy, and hails from Smithfield, Virginia.

HAS ANYBODY IN BOSTON seen Madeleine Carroll? Or has anyone sighted Stirling Hayden?... The blonde hunk of man and the fair Madeleine are reportedly seeing one another somewhere—and it isn't New York... "Under This Roof," by Herbert B. Ehrmann, the Boston attorney, was disparaged (though gently) by the Gotham critics. It isn't going to stay on Broadway very long... Martin Sheridan, once of this newspaper's staff, is author of a new tome on cartoonists. It will be out next month... The week-end holiday business at the Boston Latin Quarter established an all-time high for gross receipts of a Boston nightclub.

REMINISCENT OF VARIETY'S HEYDAY is the Latin Quarter's new show of seven full acts... Seven acts comprised the standard bill in vaudeville (opening and closing acts didn't count else there would have been nine)... Nightclubs seldom have gone beyond four acts, with three choruses interspersed as relief... Lou Walters initiated the seven-act policy in Florida this winter, and home-comers from that tropical bourn have been so impressed that the question: "How does he do it?" has been posed frequently in the direction of this department... The answer is easy... Walters manages to take in more money than the sum of the salaries of the entertainers he employs. Easy? Elemental!... For a headliner for his Boston show, the canny Lou has gone to oldtime vaudeville, and the easy-moving Pat Rooney, Sr., whose work is too familiar to need reviewing, is the result.

ANOTHER ENTERTAINER who is extremely light on his feet is Jack Holst, former Olympic champion of the parallel bars... Holst's amazing leaps got gasps from an opening night audience... the marvelous comedy dancing team, the Coltons, are on the Latin Quarter's bill... When The Mayfair introduced this brother and sister team three seasons ago, this column went rabid with joy... If possible, they have improved... Another Boston boy who got his first hometown recognition at the same Mayfair, Walter Donahue, is prominent in the proceedings at the Quarter... As the years pass, it is a dwindling host of nightclubgoers which remembers the late Jack Donahue, who carried the fame of Charlestown's City Square the length and breadth of the land.

WALTER DONAHUE, OF COURSE, is Jack's young brother... He has his brother's style of dancing, his wry, modest manner of speaking, and a projectable personality which wins him instant command of an audience... In short, he is excellent... Younger brothers of famous older ones have none too easy a time of making individual imprints in the world of entertainment... Here is a young man that probably would have been an important star if his famous brother had not preceded him by half a generation only.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Eleanor Early, the Wellesley authoress, has gone to Washington under assignment to do a series on the capital scene for a newspaper syndicate... Rosalie Wynn, the Boston singer, is being mistaken for Ruby Keeler from one side of Times Square to the other. Now the wife of Danny White, who is featured at Iceland, Miss Wynn says she has discarded her career... Garbo has called off her pose

OLIVIA MAY PLAY BRONTE SISTER

By Louella O. Parsons

Olivia DeHavilland

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 25—Win, lose or draw in the Oscar race, Olivia DeHavilland and Joan Fontaine are hotter than hot at the box office right now. And in a movie together they would be terrific. The bright idea of co-starring them is Jack Warner's, and Jack believes he has found the story that would be perfect in "Devotion," based on the lives of Charlotte and Emily Bronte. I must say Jack is a man of action, because he already has a script written by Theodore Reeves and Robert Buckner assigned to produce.

Of course there still remains the "little" problem of borrowing Joan from David Selznick. But these two should be in a trading mood since Jack lent Olivia to David for "G. W. T. W." The story of the Bronte sisters, who lived in the middle of the last century, is a dramatic one. Emily lived only a short time and Charlotte died shortly after childbirth. Interesting that Joan is to be starred in "Jane Eyre," the greatest of all the books written by Charlotte Bronte.

A FIGHT that is a fight is going on in Chicago over the showing of "Roxie Hart." Not since the producers of "A Birth of a Nation" went to court to break an injunction prohibiting it being shown has there been such a battle. Mayor Kelly has refused the Ginger Rogers picture a permit. He says it is against the present Administration.

Originally, Maurine Watkins' play was called "Chicago," and it was a comedy takeoff on a fake murderers who grabs herself publicity at the expense of the city political machine. Sidney K. Kent is in Chicago now trying to iron out the kinks, but the Mayor has said there must be 15 cuts before he will allow it to be shown. Since the 15 cuts would completely ruin the picture, a deadlock is the result.

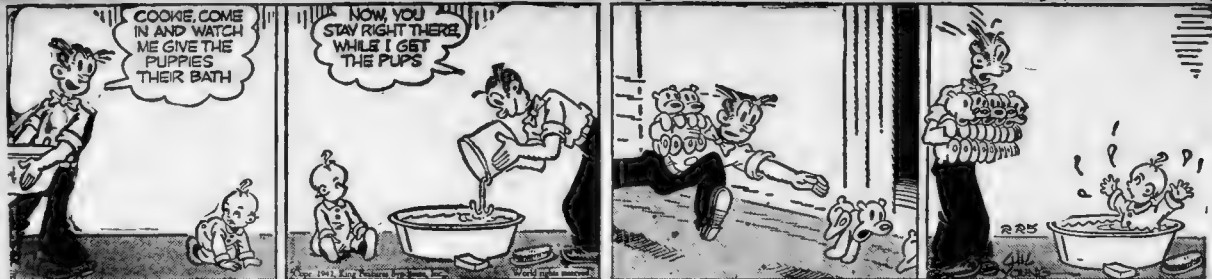

CRITICS have been hauled to premieres by train, plane, boat and bus, but Hal Roach is streamlining a subway to take scribes to Brooklyn to see "Brooklyn Orchid." The Brooklyn "sub" express has furnished a car rigged up like a Pullman lounge and those celebrities who hail from Brooklyn, as well as the critics, are invited for the ride and Hal's picture, "Brooklyn Orchid." William Bendix, who is a hit with Katharine Hepburn in "Woman of the Year" is featured in the picture, also Marjorie Woodworth. They tell me Skeets Gallagher gets a haul of laughs playing a character not unlike Mr. T. Manville.

A LINE OR TWO: Mariene Dietrich, with a temperature of 102 and a bad case of flu, just couldn't be persuaded to leave the set of "The Spoilers." She only had a few scenes to finish and she insisted she stick until the last scene was filmed... Charlie Chaplin's preview of "The Gold Rush," with words and music, at the Fox Westwood Village Theater next Monday will have as many lights as possible under war-time regulations. The Army is checking to see what lights are within the law, also crowd regulations.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Barbara Brewster (one of the famed twins) and her husband, Al Bloomingdale, have dated the stork; Clifford Odets, well-known playwright and once wed to Luise Rainer, turning on the charm for a pretty brunette at the Brown Derby; Martha O'Driscoll and Walter Brewer have broken their engagement and Martha will remain a career girl.

New Bedford Soldier Headache to Japs

By CLARK LEE

WITH GEN. MACARTHUR ON WESTERN BATAAN FRONT, Feb. 23 (Delayed) (AP)—Even the Japanese on this sector of the front know "Lieutenant Frenchy"—Lieut. Roland S. Saulnier of 88 Lucas st., New Bedford, Mass.

Several times a day "Frenchy" inspects his young Filipino troops in their fox holes and trenches along the front line and calls out: "Hey, you damned Japanese, come out here."

From their own dug-in positions in the underbrush only 100 feet from the Filipino-American barbed wire, the Japanese answer: "Profinty, you Fawrencechee."

Whenever they face problems, his troops call for Frenchy. Whenever fighting starts he is in the middle of it, this 22-year-old who is one of the most colorful figures in the American forces in the Philippines. PROMOTION DUE

I won't attempt to produce his dialect, which is typical French-Canadian, although he was born in New Bedford. Both his parents were French-Canadians and he attended mostly French schools. He drove a delivery truck at Cape Cod for his father, went West in 1939 to see the country, worked as a cook, joined the National Guard at Santa Barbara, Cal., and then transferred to the Army when he came to the Philippines in 1940. He learned to use the rifle in the New Bedford "French Sharpshooters."

Frenchy heard that stories were being written about him second-hand and asked this correspondent what it was all about. Frenchy joined the Philippine Army late in December. He organized a bus convoy which brought hundreds of troops to the Bataan peninsula. Now he commands a battalion and has been recommended for captaincy.

Early one morning, his position was attacked and he and a private were pinned in their fox holes four hours while the Japanese attempted to dislodge them with hand grenades. During that scrap, Frenchy killed seven Japanese, and his total now is over 30 with a revolver alone, not counting those killed with machine gun and trench mortars.

USE JAP GUNS
This young American says "It's real comical" out there in the front lines when the Filipinos and Japanese cuss each other out in the Filipino language, which the Japs pronounce badly.

"When the Japanese attack," he continued, "they yell 'assault' and 'advance' trying to scare my men, but they don't scare any more."

"Lots of times we throw grenades at each other. I throwed quite a few and also have shot the machine guns, Garands and pistols. We have a lot of Japanese guns which we are using on them."

"The Japanese don't like to surrender much. One of them came over with his hands up and they throwed a hand grenade, so we haven't taken many prisoners since. The Japs have pretty good teamwork."

"We've killed lots of them around our place. There's maybe four or five hundred bodies around our wire. The smell is terrible as I guess we'll have to move either up or back a bit soon."

Frenchy is back on duty again, after being hospitalized for malaria.

New Bedford Hero Former Mill Worker

Lieut. Saulnier, whose heroism has inspired his Filipino comrades in arms, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Saulnier of 88 Lucas st., New Bedford.

He is the next to youngest of four children. His brother, Roger, is a defense worker in Bermuda. Lieut. Saulnier attended St. Anne's Parochial School in the South End of New Bedford, and later went to Continuation School for machinists. He worked for a while as an operative in Kilburn Mill, New Bedford, and then drove a truck for his father on Cape Cod.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—And even if your skin has always shone like the sun from excess oiliness . . . you might even play a fast set of tennis as Virginia Grey does . . . without marring the velvet matness of your makeup . . . if you use a cream Arline Gould recommends. It softens wrinkles and acts as a night cream, corrective and powder base.

RUB AWAY THE WRINKLES WITH THIS MAGIC CREAM!

By ARLINE GOULD

ALL RIGHT, your skin is so oily naturally that you feel any night lubricating treatment is about the most unnecessary thing you could possibly imagine . . . yet . . . you have a wrinkle or two around your eyes, haven't you? Oh . . . it's more than two wrinkles you have. In fact it's nearer 12 than two, around mouth and temples as well as eyes!

Then you need the near-miraculous aid of an "oily skin cream" . . . for this is a specially made softener . . . which at the same time acts as a "blotter" to your surplus of natural oils! And this week only you may consult with its gifted creator, who is visiting a Boston shop . . . she'll solve your most pressing beauty problems!

You hear us wail about the lack of natural oils which makes a dry skin old before its time. And perhaps you think therefore that those "natural oils" of yours which pour out so generously are the best lubricants you could use . . . and so they would be if they weren't mixed with body wastes and acids.

You may be sure that this oily skin cream has been painstakingly formulated just for your skin, which needs no real lubrication, but does need softening and blotting of excess oils. This cream is to be used at night . . . and in the day-time will make an absolutely non-shine base for your powder if you smooth some or the nose and chin areas.

It is unique . . . and the mark of its thorough-going creator . . . that this cream has in it the best-known specific for over-oiliness . . . sulphur. Yet if you weren't told this, you'd never know . . . because there is no trace of sulphurous ochre or sulphurous odor.

In applying it, you'll almost feel as though you're using a dry powder instead of a cream, it's that un-greasy.

There's a $1.50 size . . . a wonderful introduction to new beauty for the most beset problem skin in the world . . . the oily type!

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

THIS IS AN AGE when there are big things to do! Every real American feels like pulling up his belt a notch, finding an important job and going to work. The kind of foods we eat has something to do with our stamina in seeing things through. A good start for the new day at this time of year is a hot, nourishing bowl of fruited cereal.

Carbohydrate foods are regarded as one of the best sources of heat and energy. The fruit and cereal combinations are not only energizing at the moment and during the hours that follow, but provide pep and general good health through the minerals and vitamins present.

Stewed rice, corn meal mush, oatmeal, cracked wheat, and the many delicious hot cereals are made all the more inviting by the generous addition of raisins, either whole or sliced, stewed prunes cut in pieces, stewed and sweetened figs, dried apricots or peaches.

But your favorite cereal need not come in a bowl with sugar and milk, or fruit on it. It can hop into biscuits neat as anything. For example:

SOUTHERN GRIDDLE BISCUIT

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup bran cereal
1 cup whipping cream
1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups flour
4 tsp. baking powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt

Soak bran cereal in cream. Mix flour, baking powder, and salt. Add soaked bran cereal and stir until dough is formed. Turn out on floured board and roll or pat to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thickness. Cut with small cutter and bake slowly on hot greased griddle 5 minutes. Turn biscuit over and bake on other side 5 minutes. Makes 16 biscuits (2 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter).

HOT CEREAL is delicious with dried fruits added.

The use of oatmeal in waffle cooking is a new idea—and a good one. This whole grain cereal is a perfect morning "starter-off," for it provides energy needed for work or play. The combination of oatmeal with double-rich irradiated evaporated milk and eggs is not only excellent from the nutritional angle, but produces waffles that have plenty of flavor and eye appeal. Either regular or quick-cooking oatmeal may be used, but the latter produces waffles of finer texture.

OATMEAL WAFFLES

2 cups irradiated evaporated milk
2 tbs. vinegar
2 cups quick-cooking oatmeal
2 eggs, separated
6 tbs. butter, melted
1-3 cup sifted flour
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. soda
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt
2 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. baking powder

Mix milk and vinegar. Stir in oatmeal and let stand two hours, or soak overnight in a cold place. Add egg yolks. Beat well. Add melted butter. Stir in flour that has been sifted with the soda, baking powder and salt. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a hot waffle iron. Makes six 7-inch waffles.

Molasses butter cream is a colorful and flavorful spread that goes perfectly with oatmeal waffles—and adds nutritional goodness, too. By combining butter in the syrup, the waffles get buttered and "syruped" all at the same time. It's a grand idea, for it's so much simpler to serve—and also effects a bit of economy.

SPRING DUES OF COTTON DO A BROTHER-SISTER ACT

By BETINA BEDWELL

THE small fry of the nation are not going to feel very much the pinch of priorities in their spring fashions, say the makers of children's clothes. The best style for them are made of cottons, and there appear to be plenty.

However, you mothers might note that later on there may be less printed cotton for small girls and boys to wear. It will be white, natural and one-color. This is because cottons are printed on copper rolls and they ain't gonna be no copper rolls for such uses when the ones in service are worn out.

However, for spring, children's dresses and playsets come in printed cottons very largely. More popular than ever are brother and sister styles, for small boys and girls, made of combined white and printed cotton. Miss Dulin has sketched a pair designed by The Mason Line.

For tots of three and four years, the models are made of blue and white striped cotton and white lawn. Trousers for the boy and skirt for the girl are striped, but the girl has a white set-on apron. Both waists are white lawn. To commemorate George Washington's birthday, red appliqued cherries are set on the girl's apron and the boy's pocket.

Return to Private Life Not Dull

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Tuesday—I had my first press conference back in the White House yesterday and, quite obviously, the girls asked me how I liked my return to private life! It made me add up what really has been different in the past few days. I discovered: 1—I have really spent several hours reading; 2—I walked for an hour Sunday morning; 3—I spent an hour in the National Art Gallery Sunday afternoon.

If you are in Washington, don't fail to go to this gallery. You can't possibly see the 90 galleries all at once, but a little at a time refreshes the spirit. Most inspiring is the fact that on a Sunday the place was crowded with men in uniform, young people, old people and children.

I took my cousin, Mrs. Joseph Alsop, to see the exhibits of drawings and paintings on defense subjects, and then we went through some of the early Italian rooms. I found that she enjoyed the carving in wood of the Madonna kneeling before the child, as much as I did.

We saw a few of the early Dutch paintings also, and had a glimpse of the different courts with their display of flowers and fountains. I came away feeling a real gratitude that such a collection has been given to the nation, and that so many people seem to be enjoying it.

I STILL HAVE a good many commitments made during the past few months for various speeches and engagements. There are a good many personal things, however, which I ought to have done and which I must now do, such as the distribution of belongings in the New York houses to various children.

This means actually getting things packed and shipped in anticipation of the final disposal of these houses, in which we have lived for a good many years. On the whole, I do not think my new found leisure is going to be empty of occupation.

Last night I attended the annual dinner of the Democratic National Committee and listened with many others to the President's speech. Following his direction, I kept a map in front of me, but the committee had thoughtfully provided a large map for the dinner guests. I am sure that many of us are better informed and wiser than we were.

As the President said, he obviously could not answer in one speech all the questions which people have on their minds. Gradually, day by day, and week by week, these questions will be answered.

This Girl Waits for Soldier Sweetheart

ABOUT TWO WEEKS ago this column published a letter in which a young soldier said he had met a girl who, he thought, cared as much for him as he did for her. Although our soldier wondered if she would be willing to wait for him for the duration, he had lacked the courage to ask her.

Several correspondents have answered this young man's letter. Here's one from a girl who feels especially qualified to give the correct answer, as she finds herself in the same position as this soldier's sweetheart:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"The letter in your column, signed 'Uniform Frank,' is especially interesting to me, and I hope this letter may help him to make a decision. When I began writing to a young friend in the Army last June, I was not in love with him. Indeed, I felt I would never fall in love, but my soldier friend's letters became more and more interesting until finally I found myself just living for them.

"He spoke of his feeling for me long before I ever admitted to myself that I cared for him. But now I love him as deeply as I can ever love anyone. He is on the West Coast and I am in the deep South, yet space does not separate us.

"I would have felt it the greatest honor and privilege if he had thought it well to ask me to wait for him. I shall wait for him, but how happy I should have been if he had only told me himself that he wanted me to wait.

"To this soldier who signs himself 'Uniform Frank' please let me say, by all means ask your girl to wait if you want her to be happy. She may be waiting, longing for those very words to give her courage to keep on. "WAITING."

Please let me whisper a word of wisdom to all men, whether uniformed or not. From the beginning of time, every woman is flattered by a declaration of love, and twice flattered by a proposal. It's also a woman's privilege to refuse. Bear this in mind whether you're wearing a uniform or tweeds. When you ask a girl to marry you, even if she turns you down, you will be forever enshrined in her memory as a man of excellent taste.

What better evidence of discrimination can you offer than selecting her, of all women, as your desired life companion?

One Catfish vs. 1,000 Cod

A long time ago, fishermen of the North Sea landed their cod in tanks built into the holds of their boats. In the tanks the cod lived at ease and they came to market sleek and flabby. Then someone thought of putting a catfish into each tank. The catfish kept the cod continually stirred up with the result that they came to market brisk and firm.

New times—new ways. Today cod "comes to market" in the refrigerated holds of 40-Fathom trawlers. Rushed from nearby fishing banks it arrives in Boston firm and fresh. And it is kept that way by filleting and quick freezing as soon as it is landed.

As for the catfish, we treat them the same as the cod. Filleted and quick frozen they join the other members of the 40-Fathom family of seafoods that carry the taste of the ocean to inland communities and bring good business to Boston.

Play or Work, New Baseball Slogan

As one man's opinion I like Bob Quinn's tough attitude toward holdout ball players in these war-pinch times. For the ball players are among our most pampered citizens when many less able-bodied males are wearing army mustard and drawing the buck private's standard $21, minus deductions for pants pressing, smokes, movies and such et cetera luxuries.

So any pro ball player today who mutters over drawing from $6000 to $20,000 and upwards for six months' fun, two hours a day, should have the contents of his cranial cavity examined.

Baseball, as a diversion and a release to national nerves, is an asset. President FDR SAYS it is and, where formerly the color of this writer's politics was against the New Deal colossus, now anything the President says is gospel—for the duration.

But baseball, none the less is a non-essential asset and not a vital factor to the welfare of the American commonwealth. So let the pro ball player tumble down nightly on his knobby knees and thank Providence for drawing down a fat, fortnightly check, and living in Oriental luxury while his brethren are getting mere pin money for double drill and no canteen.

As a matter of fact Bob Quinn has always been a sturdy pioneer in the question of handling holdouts. His average of dissatisfied ball players has been smaller than that of any club in the major leagues. And why? Because the Bee-Braves have discovered three things about the sturdy little septuagenarian, (1) that Bob pays wages commensurate with the work, (2) he rarely deviates from the first contract figure and (3) he is baseball's toughest tyke in a money spat.

A Sample of His System

QUINN HAS A SYSTEM. He never takes affront if a hired man thinks, and says, he is worth more money. In some instances he has sweetened the pot when an athlete has breached the topic tactfully.

Few players do and the scandalized screams which are usually enclosed with rejected contracts have always raised the bristles on Bob's spine. I have to go back a long way for an example, back in fact, to the times of Buck Jordan, Hal Lee and Walter Berger. There practically haven't been any holdouts since then—not worth mentioning.

Lee's case was typical. He let off a chirographical sneer, "where d'you get off at, toasing me peanuts . . ." And Jordan hollered, "You gotta gall . . ." So the fight was on. In Lee's case Quinn severed postal relations until Hal, made curious by continued silence, wandered into training camp one morning and was about to sign the hotel register when Bob barged up.

"Stay your hand, sirrah," ordered Quinn, "touch not a single pen," or words to that effect.

And from there on in his rich prose style, Bob told Lee to do his first training in the club's upstairs office and, until he humbled himself, not to talat the pure atmosphere being breathed by contented players. Then Quinn swung off into space, levelling off at a plane of personalities. Lee's feet weren't twins. He was a lackadaisical player who slept standing up with his eyes wide open. He had lead in his pants and hardening of the cerebral arteries. In fact the only use he could be was as fertilizer for the outfield grass.

"And furthermore . . ." resumed Bob, gulping air for a fresh flight. For the little man was never in such forensic fettle as when a fuss

"I'll sign, Bob," said Lee. "What," snapped Bob, with his mouth still full of words. "I'll sign, Mr. Quinn," said Lee. And that was that.

Jordan's case was different. At the boiling point of his argument he got Quinn on the telephone. Only, as far as Bob was concerned, no telephone was needed. Because he could have stuck his head out of the training hotel window and been heard by naked ear in Salisbury, N. C., where Jordan was holding the other end of the line. The call must have cost Jordan $2.50, but it cost the telephone company a large sum for blown out fuses and stripped insulation. And shortly afterward Bob traded Buck to Cincinnati for something out of the cellar. And that was that!

Sign Up or Stay Away

STILL QUINN HAS HIS SOFTER SIDE in money matters. There was the day that I happened to be sitting in his office when Guy Bush reported after being released by the Cubs 10 days before. Quinn agreed to pay him the salary that he had drawn in Chicago. Bush was out of a job and that sounded generous. But still he hesitated.

"What's on your mind?" urged Quinn. Bush wanted to get paid for the 10 days when he didn't have any job. He wanted his railroad fare and meal money to Boston. He wanted the cost of transporting his furniture and wife. It amounted, as I recall to about $700, but Quinn just chuckled and wrote a cashier's check. Maybe he liked the Spanish sideburns on Guy's swarthy cheek. Maybe it was just his cheek.

Quinn's system even in pre-war times was simple. He refused to allow any unsigned ball player on the training premises. If they wanted to haggle, the time to haggle was before the training period and thereafter by mail. Where many another magnate permitted his dissatisfied athletes to come down to camp and either loaf the days away at no expense to themselves or go through restrained motions on the practice field, Quinn cracked down like a drill sergeant.

Now baseball faces a period of possible bankruptcy and, perhaps, ultimate suspension. The fans, engrossed in more serious business and unwilling to spare afternoons from work, won't turn out in such payloads as formerly. Costs of maintenance, travel and hotelage, are up. Taxes are soaring. So the athletes are doubly lucky to have their jobs at the peacetime scale of pay. Any recalcitrant holdout this year won't get a sympathetic tear from the rest of the nation. The order is "Get in and play or get out and work."

HOSE ROOKIE BATTERY MAY GET CLUB IN RACE

By HERB FINNEGAN

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 25—The two Red Sox rookies this nomad will be most interested to see when the Red Sox battery men report for first practice at Sarasota tomorrow are Pitcher Yank Terry from San Diego and Catcher Bill Conroy, drafted from Oakland.

Both boys come highly recommended, and if they live up to their advance reputations they will strengthen the Sox in the two spots where they need strengthening the most.

The Sox have always had power. For seven years under Joe Cronin they have either led the league in batting or been close to the top. Yet they have never finished better than 16½ games behind the Yanks. It takes no prophet therefore to realize that power alone will not bring a pennant.

MAY FILL VOID

True, the Sox infield has been below par defensively the past couple of years, but with Pesky and Pelliganti fighting for the shortstop berth and Ulysses Lupien at first, that weakness will be remedied this year.

With a smart catcher who can bring out the best in the Sox pitchers, the club can be battling for the pennant all the way despite the loss of Ted Williams and those three fine young pitching prospects—Mickey Harris, Earl Johnson and Emerson Dickman.

Terry and Conroy may fill that aching void.

Terry, never a standout before 1941, came up with 26 victories in 1941 and was voted the most valuable player in the Coast League.

Standing 6-1 and weighing 180, he not only led his league in victories but in strikeouts (171) and had an earned run average of 2.31. It was the first season Terry had notched more than 16 wins, and his improvement is credited to Herman Pillelto, San Diego pitching coach, who did such a fine job on Heber Dick Newsome in 1940.

MOTIONS LIKE WHITEHILL

Pillelto not only taught Terry to hide the ball so that he wouldn't telegraph his pitches, but convinced him that if he gave more of his back to the batters his delivery would be more effective.

As a result, Terry lifts one leg high in the air and pivots toward second before firing the ball, much as Earl Whitehill used to do and much as Buck Newsum of the Tigers does now. In addition he picked up a slider that is one of his best pitches.

Terry is 29 and has been kicking around pro ball since 1934. His best season until 1941 was in 1935 when he won 16, lost 12 for Terre Haute in the Three-Eye League. Louisville purchased him in 1936, and he has been in the Red Sox chain since. In 1940 the Sox brought him up to Fenway in mid-season but sent him back after watching him pitch 19 innings. This time he'll get a more thorough trial.

THE ROAD IS OPEN

"If he can't pitch in the big league, nobody can," said Eddie Pellagrini, rookie Sox shortstop who played with Terry at San Diego last year.

Catcher Conroy, like Terry, has been around some time. He's 25 years of age and, wonder of wonders, he's a six-footer. It will be quite a treat for Fenway patrons to look at a six-foot Sox catcher after watching Desautels, Peacock and Pytlak the past five years.

Conroy, who once had a trial with the A's, is rated a smart handler of pitchers.

Charlie Fallon, the Quinby boy who caught for Seattle in the Coast League last year lauds Con-roy's receiving ability.

The only thing that's been keeping him in the bushes has been his inconsistency at bat. But he has power, as his six home runs last year prove. A little polish by Hughey Duffy, and he may blossom forth as a slashing hitter, much like Clyde Klutts of the Braves did at Sacramento in '41.

Conroy hit 290 in 89 games last year. Peacock hit 284 in 79 games for the Sox. Pytlak hit 271 in 106 games.

There are no Fellers pitching for the Red Sox staff. Therefore the way is wide open for Terry. There are no Dickey's catching for them either. Therefore the road is wide open for Conroy. Start hiking, boys.

Rubber Shortage Will Aid Pitchers

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Frank Shellenbach, Red Sox coach, thinks the rubber shortage will be a blessing in disguise for pitchers. He believes that baseballs will stay in the game longer and that the mountmen "will be able to throw the long-banned emery ball without using any gimmicks."

Rangers Outluck B's On Two 'Gift' Tallies

By BILL GRIMES

In their first home game since the Krauts joined the armed forces and in their initial start under the guidance of Assistant Coach "Dit" Clapper, the Bruins went down to a 4 to 3 defeat before the New York Rangers at the Boston Garden.

Despite the fact that the Rossmen were on the losing end, the 13,200 cash customers were perfectly satisfied with the contest, which was one of the best of the season. The first period compared very favorably with the middle chapter of the last Bruin-Toronto game, which produced the best 20 minutes of thrilling hockey seen here in years.

REFEREE'S "BONER"

In all fairness to the Bruins, attention should be called to the fact that two of the Rangers' goals were gifts. With the score one-all in the final period, Rangers put on a three-man attack. Mums Pratt carried the puck into the Boston zone and then flipped it to Lynn Patrick, who, in turn, gave it to Bryan Hextall on the right wing.

Hextall went in on Frankie Brimsek and shot from about 15 feet out. Frankie made a nice save but, unfortunately, batted the puck directly at the in-rushing Ranger. The disc hit Hextall's knee and shot right back and into the cage.

According to the rules "a goal shall not be scored if the puck is put into the goal by any part of the person of the attacking player or by his skates or from a stick carried above the height of the shoulders."

Thousands of fans were in position to realize that Referee Clancy erred when he allowed that marker. Then, late in the same period Brimsek saved on a Pratt shot but the puck ran up his shin guard and flopped into the cage.

Patrick scored the first Ranger goal and assisted on the second while Hextall reverted that order. Pratt also came up with a goal and an assist and the odd New York tally was made by Bill Juzda.

DISALLOWED GOAL

Jack McGill, Dessie Smith and Eddie Wiseman did the scoring for the Rossmen. McGill tied the count on a length-of-the-ice solo 25 seconds after the third period's opening face-off. It was the individual high light of the game. Smith rifled one from the blue line for the second tally after trailing Herbie Cain and Art Jackson into the attacking zone. And, 20 seconds before the final whistle, Wiseman counted on a three-man attack with Jack Crawford and "Flash" Hollett. At 5:18 in the second period, Patrick broke the ice on a perfect play

RANGER WIN CINCHES LEAD

The New York Rangers tightened their grip on first place in the National League standings by a 4 to 3 victory last night over the Bruins.

The Detroit Red Wings scored their fourth victory in a row by defeating the Brooklyn Americans 3 to 2 in Madison Square Garden. The Wings scored a goal a period while the Americans lagged until the final session when they registered two in a sudden spurt. The game was termed the roughest played this season in New York ice.

with Hextall. After taking a well timed pass from Hextall, Patrick cut inside and let fly a beautiful shot, which had Brimsek beaten all the way.

JACKSONS GO TO WORK

Shortly after half time, Jackson and Grant Warwick jammed and "Busher" went to the rescue of his younger brother. The Jacksons were allowed to go scot free but Warwick went off for high sticking. Then, just before the Ranger returned to action, Shewchuk handed out a knee check to Hextall and made his third visit to the penalty box.

Starting the final period, Rangers were still leading 1 to 0, but 25 seconds later the score was tied. McGill broke out of this own zone after a four-man Ranger attack and headed for the New Yorkers' net. Just as he was about to shoot he was tripped from behind and wound up against the back boards. But, the puck wound up in the cage.

The very questionable goal by Hextall broke the deadlock a couple of minutes later and then after Gordie Bruce had received a major penalty for cutting Neil Colville over the left eye, Juzda put the Rangers two goals out in front on a long shot. But the Rossmen refused to quit and were rewarded with a goal made by Smith.

Then came the other heart breaker, the Pratt tally which was scored when the puck ran up Brimsek's pad and came to rest in pay territory. With only 12 seconds to play, Wiseman scored the final marker, aided and abetted by Hollett and Crawford.

Gil Dodds Eager for Shot at M'Mitchell in Title Mile

The Joe DiMaggio of the track world, New York University's Leslie MacMitchell, will have a new long-legged menace pitching at the world's one-mile indoor record when the National A. A. U. track championships are contested at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

For Mr. Gil Dodds, ace of the Boston A. A., has wearied of chasing another invincible, Greg Rice, New York A. C. home of the two-mile run, and has announced he will take a crack at MacMitchell. Dodds has wanted to run against Les all winter but his coach, Jack Ryder, couldn't persuade officials of the Millrose games and the Boston A. A. games that he had a chance.

Dodds himself has no preference. If Ryder wants him to run any distance, from a mile up to four miles, he simply goes out and runs it.

"I always did want to get a crack at MacMitchell, though," he admitted today. "And I think I'll run a good race."

OWNER SAYS ALSAB IS O. K. BUT MAY PASS UP FLAMINGO

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—If Trainer August Swenke gives the word, Alsab will be munching oats in his stable Saturday when his principal rivals go to post at Hialeah Park for the $25,000 Flamingo Stakes—the richest horse race of the winter for 3-year-olds.

Owner Al Sabath declared today that Swenke alone will say whether the 1941 juvenile champion is to get his first trial of the year under Derby conditions, without giving away precious pounds to the field.

"We'll have a conference and decide," Sabath said. "It's possible we'll hold him out, although he is perfectly all right. I will leave it entirely to Mr. Swenke's judgment. We listened to him last year and he didn't mislead me."

"We are not going to jeopardize his chances in the Kentucky Derby and other races by running him Saturday, if Mr. Swenke advises against it."

If Alsab does go against some 14 of the country's leading colts, Sabath believes he has a good chance to win back some of the favor he lost with poor performances in his first two starts as a three-year-old.

"Some of the other good horses down here," said Sabath, "have not done well in their first couple of races, then came back to win. Challedon did it yesterday, for instance. There seems to be something about the warm climate that makes some horses develop slowly."

LEIBER READY 'TO PLAY HEAD OFF FOR OTT

By The Associated Press
AVALON, Cal., Feb. 25.—The Chicago Cubs, with little more to do than an inventory of aches and pains occasioned by a program made up entirely of callisthenics to date, discovered today the squad had six 200 pounders: Pitchers Bill Lee, Paul Erickson, Hiram Bithorn; outfielders Bill Nicholson and Frank Jelinek, and catcher Salvador Hernandez.

MIAMI, Fla.—Hank Leiber, last of the John McGraw discoveries, returned to the New York Giants late yesterday and said he was willing to "play his head off for Mel Ott." After being named manager of the Giants during the winter, Ott immediately sent Pitcher Bob Bowman and cash to the Chicago Cubs for the slugging outfielder, who started with the club in 1934.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Catcher Ken O'Den informed the St. Louis Cardinals today that he wasn't a holdout. Inability of the catcher who was acquired from the New York Giants during the winter to get transportation from his Avon, N. Y., home is the reason for his non-appearance in camp.

HAVANA—Cliff Dapper, the young catcher who appeared in 123 games for Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League last season, appears in line for the No. 2 Brooklyn Dodger backstopping job. The trading of Blimp Phelps to Pittsburgh and the continued absence of Herman Franks has given Dapper his chance.

LAKELAND, Fla.—While the early birds in the Detroit Tiger training camp are mostly pitchers, the first batting practice of the season is slated for today. There were many moans from the hurlers yesterday when Manager Del Baker called off the hitting drill because of the high wind.

ANAHEIM, Cal.—Ken Richardson, a shortstop third baseman switched to first base because of Dick Siebert's holding out, covered the initial bag smartly in yesterday's workout.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Cleveland's first serious workout of the year is scheduled for today with the tria members still missing. Manager Lou Boudreau says he doesn't know if Outfielders Jeff Heath and Gene Walker and Pitchers Joe Heving, Chris Embree and Millard Howell are holdouts.

TAMPA, Fla.—Despite the wind had adverse weather, the Cincinnati Reds are rounding into shape on schedule but what's really making the rookies hustle is the presence of Jewel Ens, manager of the Reds' farm club at Syracuse. Ens is looking for players and the freshmen would like to show up so well that Manager Bill McKelchie will tell the farm boss "hands off."

Diamond Ring Finals Monday

The last amateur boxing tournament prior to the annual New England A. A. U. championships will be sponsored by the Irish American A. A. Monday night at the Arena. The show is the Diamond Ring windup.

Thirty-two outstanding leather fencers have earned the right to compete in these finals by qualifying in the four tryout shows. Eight classes of competition will be offered in all weights from flyweights to heavyweights, with three bouts in each division.

The winners of the Diamond Ring Finals will automatically qualify for the N. E. A. U. Championships at the Garden on March 23.

Louis Signs For 2d Bout With Simon

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (INS)—Private Joe Louis, world's heavyweight boxing champion, and Abe Simon, giant contender, today signed to meet in a 15-round title bout at Madison Square Garden on March 27 for the benefit of the Army relief fund.

Louis and Promoter Mike Jacobs, of the 20th Century Sporting Club, agreed to donate their entire shares of the bout to the fund, while Simon, whose share is 15 per cent of the gate, will hand over 2 1/2 per cent of his purse to the Army fund. It will be the second meeting between the two.

In their first title fight, in Detroit last March 21, Louis knocked out Simon, who weighs in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, in 13 rounds. Since that time, Simon was woyed in five rounds by Len Franklin, who last night in turn was knocked out by Bob Pastor in Cleveland.

Louis, in his most recent appearance, scored a knockout over Buddy Baer in the naval relief fund show. As a result of their efforts the fund was enriched by some $39,000.

Prices for the fight will range from $2.50 to $25.

Gansett Mails Stall Cards

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Feb. 24.—The first batch of stall cards for the spring meeting at Narragansett Park, which opens on April 11, was put in the mails this morning to 80 trainers, representing 201 owners and 992 horses.

The thoroughbreds will journey to New England from all quarters of the racing map: 476 from Florida, 191 from California, 181 from Hot Springs, 68 from New Orleans and 38 from other points. Gansett will house 1200 head of thoroughbred stock when the opening bugle blows, with an additional 400 stalls reserved for feed and tack rooms.

The park will be opened for the reception of horses next Monday, March 2, and horsemen are again reminded that no shipments will be accepted unless accompanied by the stall cards which guarantee reservations.

'ICE QUEEN' FANS TO SEE ARIANE AGAIN

Figure skating stars, comedy skaters and special features will all be combined to make the local finals of the Queen of the Ice contest colorful at the Arena next Sunday night.

Originally the plan called for the finals being much the same as the four trials: an evening of general skating with an intermission to select the girls who will be "Miss Boston" and "Miss Massachusetts" at the National Ice Queen contest in Hollywood early in May.

The two winning girls will be beautifully wardrobe and have all their expenses paid for the national contest with the knowledge that victory there means an appearance in pictures and a one-year contract with the Ice-Capades.

So it is little wonder that this contest has attracted some of the loveliest young ladies in this part of the country.

Just 16 have survived and from this group two will be selected Sunday.

Interest has become so marked that Paul Brown, manager of the Arena, decided to make this a great night. He then went on to build an ice spectacle and as a result that night will see an affair that is loaded with talent, laughs and beauty.

Ariane, the 18-year-old Swiss gold medalist who made her American debut in the Silver Skates Derby here last month, was so sensational that Brown decided to give Boston skating fans one more peek at this ice queen.

JAVERY SETS EXAMPLE FOR OTHER N. E. BRAVES

By BILL GRIMES

Lanky Al Javery, who knocks apples off the highest trees in Worcester County without the aid of a step-ladder blazed a trail which the other New Englanders on the Braves roster will be wise to follow by handing President Bob Quinn his signed 1942 contract at Braves Field.

Javery stated that he was perfectly satisfied with his new contract and that he was anxious to get to Sanford, Fla., for spring training. Two years ago a blizzard was responsible for Javery's missing the train which was to have taken him to his first major league camp. He predicted heavy snow for Sunday, but promised Duffy Lewis that he'd be at the South Station before 8:20 Monday morning.

During the off season, Javery has been employed by the American Optical Co., at Southbridge, which is only a few miles from his home at Auburn. He has been grinding lenses for aviators' glasses. "Jav" hasn't put on any weight since he hung up his uniform last fall. If anything, he is lighter.

BROUGHT ALONG SLOWLY

In the two years he has been under Casey Stengel, Javery has pitched in 63 games and has compiled a record of 12 wins against 15 losses. Although there isn't anything sensational about his W.L., "Jav" is the most promising young righthander on Quinn's pay roll.

He was a "Sugar Bush" less than two years in organized baseball when Ol' Case became impressed with his "low hard one" at Bradenton a couple of years ago. Stengel has brought Javery along slowly, for he was convinced that the elongated Auburnite had a future in the game and also that Al wanted to learn.

There are at least three National League clubs that would take "turkey" with Quinn concerning Javery. Bill Terry attempted to wean Javery from the Braves last fall. In every huddle that Stengel and Frankie Frisch had during the minor leagues meeting in Jacksonville, Fla., and at the major league get-together in Chicago last December, the fiery Pittsburgh manager battled to get "Jav."

Bill McKechnie of the Reds is another N. L. manager who would like to deal for him.

KLUITZ IN FOLD

Javery is the first New Englander on the Braves' roster to affix his signature to a 1942 contract. Shortly before Javery strolled in to the front office at Braves Field, Quinn announced that Clyde Klutz, who was drafted by the Braves from the St. Louis Cardinals' farm at Sacramento, Cal., was in the fold.

Along with Klutz's signed contract was a letter, which stated that Clyde had been officiating in basketball games during the off season and was in fine shape. Klutz wrote that he had the greatest respect for Ernie Lombardi as a catcher but that he (Klutz) was confident that he'd make the club.

AL JAVERY
He's in Braves Fold

Klutz is wintering at his home in Salisbury, N. C., and has worked out a few times when the weather permitted. He's rated as one of the best catching prospects the minors have sent up in years. In 33 games, he batted .336 for "Pepper" Martin's Sacramento Club, nine points higher than Nanny Fernandez, whom the Braves got from San Francisco, the P. J. C. champion. But he hadn't played in enough games to be awarded the batting championship title.

Also, Quinn received Lou Tost's contract from Canoga Park, Cal. Tost is a southpaw pitcher, standing six feet and weighing 175. He won 13 and lost 10 for Hollywood last season and has had seven years of professional experience. He went to the St. Louis Browns' training camp in the spring of 1939 but he was taken sick and returned home where he has spent most of his career pitching for the Missions and Hollywood.

Hoop Ace Can Catch Leaders

While the latest figures in the Eastern Intercollegiate hoop league scoring race show that Dartmouth's George Munroe and Jim Olsen are tied at 128 points in nine games, Harvard's George "Bunks" Burditt, with two more league contests to play than his Indian rivals, has already totalled 102 points in seven games and ranks fourth.

To catch the Indian pair all the sophomore stringbean has to do is maintain his average of 15 points per game. Since his game average has bounced steadily, hitting 24 points Saturday against Columbia. Burditt looks a cinch to towrope the Indians in the home stretch. Only George Lawry, the sensational Princeton set shot ace, has as good an opportunity. Also in seven games Lawry, third in the league, has chalked up 108 points.

After the B. U. game next Wednesday Crimson Coach Earl Brown's manpower problem becomes increasingly serious. With only 12 reliable players to draw from, that figure will diminish to 10 next Thursday because the two similarly-named, though unrelated, regulars, "Chick" Lutz and Don Lutz, will be lost due to scholastic difficulties.

Still undefeated, Harvard's freshman hockey team goes after its 12th win tonight against the twice-victorious, twice-defeated Terrier pups at the Boston Skating Club, the game beginning at 7 p. m. Leading 4-3 in overtime against Dartmouth Monday, the Crimson Cubs were just three minutes from their 12th win when the Indians tied it up.

For the first time in history, a Wisconsin crew will row on the Charles, when the Beaver varsity competes against Harvard, Navy, and Penn in the May 16 Adams Cup Regatta, the Harvard A. A. announced last night. Only Harvard, Navy and Penn will be eligible for the cup, however. Together with M. I. T., Wisconsin will help make it a five-boat race. With the H-Y classic moved from the Thames to the Housatonic, and the Fough-keepie Regatta under the shadow of cancellation, the new two-mile race may be the outstanding Eastern rowing classic of the year.

Coach Jack Barnaby has entered five women racquetballers in the Individual Intercollegiate Feb. 26-28 at New Haven.

Because Johnny Paine looked so good in a defense spot against Army Monday, Coach Johnny Chase will keep the former first line wing at the new position Saturday night at the Garden in the first of the climatic Yale games.

Pastor Explodes Franklin Myth

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25 (AP)—Bob Pastor, who twice sampled Joe Louis' dynamite and lived, is itching for a third try at the heavyweight champion, after proving that he, too, can knock them flat.

Tricky Robert surprised even himself by sending heavily-favored Lem Franklin flat on his face, for keeps, last night in the eighth stanza of a scrap booked for 10. Many observers had reckoned Pastor might win by outboxing the Chicago slugger, but the manner of the triumph surprised all of the 13,778 customers who laid down $2.457 to give Promotor Bob Brickman a record Cleveland indoor gate.

FRANKLIN WAS CHOICE

As a result, there was little doubt today that the New Yorker would catch himself a third chance against the man he respectfully calls "Mr. Joe." Nobody gives Pastor much chance against Uncle Sam's No. 1 fighting private, but the guessers already reckoned Mike Jacobs would line things up for this summer.

Pastor entered the ring a 5-2 underdog and spotted 36½ pounds to Lem, who scaled 197½. He took the Negro's heaviest artillery in the first three rounds, including a right that opened a cut over his left eye in the second. But he stayed right there, confusing his foe with fancy footwork and quick jabs, noting his faults and waiting his chance.

WASN'T THINKING OF K.O.

It came in the eighth. After Pastor saw Franklin had lost his lip and was defending poorly, he unleashed a flurry of rights and lefts that even a lightning calculator couldn't count. Franklin retreated to the ropes. Bob followed, firing like a machine gun.

He must have thrown 30 punches before the helpless Chicagoan flopped, full length, flat on his face. Lem got up at the count of ten and staggered to the ropes, his nose bleeding, as Referee Joe Sedley raised the New Yorker's hand denoting a kayo at two minutes, eight seconds.

"I didn't have a knockout in mind—I never think of one," said happy Bob. "I noticed Franklin was standing up and getting careless. I thought 'this can't go on' and then—boom boom boom, and he was gone."

Glenn Leon remarked "I didn't have any pep, I couldn't handle myself right—I was drawn too fine. That's the worst I have ever boxed. But I'd like another fight with him."

Great Start, Al!

ANAHEIM, Cal., Feb. 25 (AP)—Al Simmons, who is expected to play a few games in the outfield this year, stole the show at the Philadelphia Athletics training camp. In batting drill he slammed the very first pitch to him out of the lot.

BC-NU TEAM UP TO KEEP COLBY FROM ICE TITLE

Northeastern and Boston College, New England Intercollegiate League rivals, scrimmaged this morning at the Arena in preparation for their mutual week-end meeting with Colby. The White Mules are bent on hurdling Northeastern (Friday night) and Boston College (Saturday afternoon) at the Arena to their first N. E. championship.

NU and BC hope to combine to (1) deprive the visitors from Waterville, Me., of their hoped-for championship, (2) permit the Eagles to snare their third straight championship, their fourth in six years; and (3) permit the Huskies to share second place with Colby, presently trailing BC.

A double win will give Colby the title. A split will permit the Mules to retain second place in the circuit's final standing. Should both N. U. and B. C. defeat Colby, Herb Gallagher's Huskies will ease way into a second place tie, highest they've ever attained.

B. C., possessor of a seven-straight win streak in this year's loop competition, will win its third pennant in a row without even lifting a stick—if N. U. beats Colby.

If this happens, you can rest assured, that the Eagles will be all out for victory Saturday, not only to preserve their own win streak, but to show gratitude to their friendly rivals from Huntington Ave.

B. C. defeated N. U. twice this season. Those defeats, together with Colby's 9-5 conquest of the Huskies at Waterville two weeks ago, knocked Northeastern out of the championship running.

All-Star Sixes Play Friday

The fans, who left the Arena on the holiday after seeing Charlie Butler, Wellesley ace, register with a last second overtime goal to give the Bay State All-Stars a 3 to 3 tie with the Eastern Mass. Stars, clamored so loud that league officials were forced to set a date for a rematch.

The date will be Friday evening, Feb. 27th and the place the Boston Garden. On the following evening, the Greater Boston All-Stars are docketed to play the winner in a preliminary game to the Olympic-Baltimore clash.

Newsom Faces Tigers' Axe

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today had growing holdout problems and from the home office came a warning that the club might be willing to dispose of such front-line performers as Bobo Newsom, Rudy York and Billy Sullivan rather than to yield in the salary dispute.

Catcher George (Birdie) Tebbets and Outfielder Don Ross, a draftee from Montreal of the International League, joined the small squad under Manager Del Baker today, but still missing from the battery-men who were to have reported last Sunday were Pitchers Newsom, Luther Thomas, Earl Cook and Johnny Gorsica and Catcher Sullivan.

Winnepesaukee to Hold Victory Ski Tournery

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

A Victory Tournament, dedicated to the many thousands of valiant skiers in the fighting services of the United Nations, will be held Saturday and Sunday, March 7 and 8, at the Belknap Mountains Area, Laconia-Gilford, N. H. Sponsor of the meet is the Winnepesaukee Ski Club, one of the oldest ski clubs in the country.

Instead of specializing in one or two events, many competitive skiers are now going in for all phases of the sport; jumping and cross country, downhill and slalom. This meet at the Belknaps is new in the respect that this is the first time the U. S. Eastern Amateur Championships have been conducted as a four-event tournery. Here is a chance for spectators to watch skiers display their skill and speed in downhill and slalom races, as well as the usual thrilling cross country and jumping.

With the aim of producing the outstanding all-around satellites of the slippery skis, more than thirty top-flight hickory performers have already signified their intentions of participating in all four events.

It is also expected that the great Torger Tokle, who recently retired the Brattleboro Outing Club's internationally famous Winged Jumping Trophy, will file his entry and again resume his duel with Ole and Sigurd of the Royal Norwegian Air Force, as well as another rival, Alf Engen.

Torger, the Terrific, is always at his best form on the lofty Belknap 60-meter hill. He really loves to fly from this take-off, pointing his ski tips skyward as he salutes the stars. We saw this had set a new record here last year when he flew his winged boards through space for 251 feet. It was a superb performance one we shall never forget.

Conditions permitting, the slalom will be contested on the new Fletcher Hale slope, built by the County of Belknap. This steep drop is one of the best sites we have yet seen on which to set a slalom course, also affording spectators a complete view of every gate. The downhill will be started on the Belknap Mountain trail to be selected at the time of the meet, and the cross country runners will race over the winding 18-kilometer course in the Area.

Directing the meet is Earle Chandler, who also guided last year's Eastern amateur ski championship. Earle, a U. S. Forester, was formerly captain of the ski team at the University of New Hampshire, and now has a ski school at the Area.

Inasmuch as so many outstanding skiers are serving in the fighting forces of the nations of the world, it is more than just idle gesture that this tournament is being dedicated to their sportsmanship and their best welfare in war as in peace.

Clapper Makes Hit as Pilot; Patrick Great Play Maker

After they've had a few practice sessions under Art Ross and "Dit" Clapper, the streamlined Bruins will click. They made enough mistakes to lose to Rangers by a very wide margin, instead of by one goal.

Any club that makes as many errors as the Bruins did against as fast and as smart a club as the Rangers and is only beaten 4 to 3 is still a serious contender for the Stanley Cup. "Dit" Clapper made his debut as a bench coach. He handled the club very well but after the game admitted that he was on the "spot" for when he got out the bench he discovered that there were a half dozen players he didn't know.

"Dit" is well on the road to recovery for he's walking without even a cane. However, he had his leg dressed by Dr. Martin J. Crotty before the game. "King" Clancy, who refereed the game, was as chipper as though he had never been hospitalized. Art Ross sat in the row behind the Bruins' bench and expressed himself as very well satisfied with Clapper's performance. Clare Martin saw to it that Hub Macy didn't duplicate the two-goal feat he came up with against the Blackhawks. Martin handed the young Ranger a terrific body check in the first period and Macy was conspicuous only by his absence for the rest of the night.

WISEMAN KEEPS SCORE DOWN

Walter Randall, who, for years, was the Win Olsen's assistant, saw his first game in two seasons. Bill Stewart will enter the Faulkner Hospital within a few days to have his tonsils removed. Jake Shewchuk drew no less than three minor penalties. He and Eddie Cummings, the silver-toned announcer, became very chummy. Grant Warwick is too small to play the type of hockey he did last evening. He acts like a fresh kid who should be given the old cure. Eddie Wiseman did most of the rushing and practically all of the back checking in the first period. There's no telling what the score would have been but for the clever all around playing of Wiseman. The first chapter was very fast and the Bruins had the edge. The crowd was in an uproar and must have been heard across town.

TEA FOR TWO was played as Gordie Bruce, Bruins' young forward, and Goalie Henry of the Rangers scrambled by the puck just outside the Blueshirts' nets. Rangers nipped the Bruins, 4-3.

It wasn't sportsmanlike on the part of the Rangers to protest the goal which was recalled in the first period. Herb Gallagher, the linesman, was taken out of the play and therefore couldn't render a decision. There were three Rangers in the Boston zone when Bryan Hextall entered with the puck. After a lengthy argument, Referee Clancy refused to allow the tally. Herbie Cain and Jack Crawford crashed (trying to grab a loose puck in New York territory late in the opening period and it was fortunate that one or both weren't injured. Crawford played a beautiful game. The Rangers have scored at least one goal in each of their last 94 starts. They were shut out for the last time by Toronto on April 9, 1940, according to that demon statistician, Gordon Campbell. There isn't a smarter forward in the N. H. L. than Lynn Patrick. He's the rare exception, a play-making left winger, and Phil Watson is smart enough to watch every move the big blond makes. Lynn put on some exceptionally clever plays last night, particularly the one which broke the scoreless tie in the second period.

But for the fact that he was wearing a helmet Jack Crawford would have received a nasty cut in the third period when he was chopped on the head by Grant Warwick. King Clancy erred when he allowed Bryan Hextall's goal. Erickson saved on Hextall's first try, but he let the puck right back at the in-rushing Ranger. The puck hit Hextall on the knee and caromed back into the goal. A direct violation of the rules. GRIMES.

Tobin Case Up Again Tomorrow

Hearing on the appeal of five citizens from the adverse decision of three Superior Court judges on their petition to oust Mayor Tobin for alleged corrupt practices will open tomorrow in Suffolk Superior Court.

The same trio of judges who dismissed the petition on the ground it was not brought and filed by the parties to whom leave was granted will conduct the hearing.

The petitioners will seek to have the Supreme Court decide on the ruling which stymied their fight to oust Tobin.

Mother of 5 Is Held for Knifing Mate

Both husband and wife went today on the witness stand in Roxbury court, where Mrs. Florence Picco, young mother of five children, defended a charge of stabbing Ronald Picco, 35, on the leg with his fisherman's knife three weeks ago.

Mrs. Picco, a waitress estranged from her husband, said she chased him with the knife only after he had "swung an uppercut from the floor, almost knocking me head over heels."

GOOD NIGHT, little dog! Then a sleepyhead
Trots trustingly off to his sheltered bed.
And this is the reason for which men fight—
That your child—and mine—may be safe tonight.

GOOD NIGHT, little boy! Then a friendly pup
In his basket cuddles contentedly up.
And men stand ready to die for this—
That a child is secure in his good night kiss!
